Every Georgia Congressman Will Work for the Exposition.

SPEAKER CRISP IS GLAD TO SEE IT

Both Senators Believe the Government Will Make an Exhibit.

MR. HOKE SMITH IS AT WORK FOR IT

He Is Getting the South American Countries Interested -All the Representatives Promise to Pull for an Exhibit.

Washington, January 3 .- (Special.)-If Georgia's representatives in congress can cause the government to aid the proposed Cotton States exposition, to be held at Atlanta next year, it will have government aid. The Georgia congressmen are very much interested in this proposed exposition. They believe it can be made a great s and when it is demonstrated that it is to be a success, then they believe congress will take sufficient interest in it to at least make a grand government exhibit, and, perhaps, have the government become interested in it just as it was in the New Orleans exposition, the centennial and the world's fair. Certainly, the Georgia con-gressmen will do all in their power from this end of the line to make it a mammoth international show.

Today I talked with all the members of the Georgia delegation and each and every one of them expressed a desire to do all in his power to aid the good work of making an exposition which will be a boom to the Speaker Crisp and the Senators. Speaker Crisp says he hopes and believes will be a great success and that he is ready to do anything in his power to aid in making the show worthy of the south and of the whole country. He believes that no other city in the south could handle such an exposition as Atlanta contemplates. Senator Colquitt said: "I stand ready to do everything possible to promote the pro-posed exposition. I think the government should make a grand exhibit. With the influence of the government behind the expoit would undoubtedly be a great show. At the proper time, I think we may expect the government to do its proper

Secretary Smith is deeply interested in the proposed exposition and has begun communications with the various ministers of Central America. Several countries, through their representatives in Washington, have already expressed a desire to be represented, as they think such an exposition is of equal importance to them and would do incalculable good to their cotton

Colosel Livingston Enthusiastic. Colonel Livingston said: "I am decidedly n favor of a cotton and international exposition, to be held in Atlanta in 1894. There are many reasons why our own people and country will be benefited. Such an exposition will stimulate diversified products and industries, bring into life much that lies dormant and unknown and bring the sections, north and south, of this country into closer relations which may and should improve our business and political relations. Such an exposition should develop a fruitful interchange of commodities between this country and South America and Mexico. The local good to grow out of such an exposition will be incalculable. I hope the southern people will push this matter to a issue. - Atlanta deserves the thanks of all our good people for inaugurating the project and I have unlimited confidence in Atlanta's success in every legitimate enterprise she undertakes. The United States government should act lib erally towards this enterprise."

Juage Turner said: "I believe and hope that the proposed exposition at Atlanta will be a great success. I should like especially to see the international feature a success I think it could be made so, even without governmental assistance. A national exnibit would tend to promote, of course, an international feature.

A Solid Delegation.

Mr. Tate: "I shall do all in my power to aid the proposed cotton exposition, I am highly in favor of a handsome government exhibit in a special government bailding." Mr. Russell: "Of course I am for government aid for an exposition at Atlanta. I hope we may be able to get a government appropriation for the exposition, as well as an appropriation for a government ex hibit.

Judge Maddox: "You may count upon my aid. I think we should certainly have a grand government exhibit. The government has appropriated money to aid the east and the west, and government aid is nothing more than the south is entitled to."

Major Black: "I hope to see the propose exposition a great success. I will do any thing consistent with my position to aid it.' Colonel Lester: "I am glad we are to have a great international exposition in the south and will do my share to make it a success." Congressmen from all the southern states express much interest in the proposed exposition and with a little energy and enthuslasm thrown into the movement here at the capital, after it has been demonstrated that the exposition is a go, government aid in the shape of a government exhibit can almost certainly be secured.

PRODUCT OF THE MINES.

Report of Chief Day of the Geological Survey.

Washington, January 3.-The report on mining resources for 1892, prepared by Chief Day, of the division of mining statistics of the geological survey, was made public to-day. It shows that the high water mark in mineral products in mineral productions was reached in 1892, both in this country and every other country. The total value of all the mineral products of that year was $684,778,768. This is $20,000,000 greater than the amount for any previous year, and $28,194,070 more than he amount for the census year of 1890.

Among the gains are that of 877,130 tons in pig iron, with an aggregate product o 9,157,000 tons, valued at $131,161,039.

Gold showed a slight loss and the year's product, valued at $33,000,000, was 1,596,375 ounces. Copper gained 57,465,665 pounds, making an aggregate of $35,275,742. Lead during the year gained 10,856 tons, ting 212,262 tons, with a value of

There was a loss of 7,000 tons in zinc, and the new metal, aluminum, almost doubled in quantity. The year's product of zinc aggregated 87,260 tons, valued at $8,027,920, and of quicksilver, 27,993 flasks, representing a value of $1,245,689. Tin from the mines in California amounted to 160,000 pounds. The aggregate for the year was 162,000 pounds, valued at $22,400. Nickel for the year aggregate 2,252 pounds, valued at $172,624, and platinum, 250,855 pounds, valued at $172,624, and platinum, 80 ounces, valued at $56,666. Bituminous coal increased $,000 tons during the year, attaining a total of 113,237,845 tons, valued at $126,195,139. Pennsylvania anthracite coal increased 1,613,458 tons, amounting to 64,850,450 tons, valued at $32,442,000. The value increased $5,000,000, with a total value of $32,000,000.

The total production of silver during the year was 58,000,000 ounces, with a valuation of $74,889,900. The amount is an increase of 77,130 ounces—for the year. The increased valuation of the product for the year was $2,823,054.

Petroleum is declining rapidly. In 1851 there were 54,000,000 barrels produced, but only $5,059,135, valued at $27,034,196, in 1892. Natural gas is also falling off, both in quantity and value. Its high water mark was reached in 1888, when the product was $22,-529,875.

The report reviews in detail the use of

The report reviews in detail the use of aluminum, and states that the principal use of the new metal in the future will be in cooking utensils. The use of the principal minerals in the first six months of last year is also reviewed in the report, showing a great decline in production, as was anticipated from the general monetary depression.

MITCHELL SIGNED THE AGREEMENT But Insisted on Having a Clause

Changed-What Corbett Sava. Jacksonville, Fla., January 3.—Charley Mitchell signed the amended articles of agreement today, under pressure from the officials of the Duval Athletic Club, and thus relieves himself of the charge of being a "rank quitter." The amended articles now provide that the fight shall take place now provide that the fight shall take place in Duval or St. John's county, the latter being the county in which Mitchell's training quarters are located. Mitchell also insisted on a change in the clause regarding the furnishing of the gloves for the fight. The original articles provided for five-ounce gloves to be furnished by Corbett. The Englishman insisted that the clause should be changed so as to read that the gloves be changed so as to read that the gloves should be furnished by "Corbett or Mitchell." Bowden yielded this point and the articles were changed accordingly.

. A Talk with Mitchell.

A Talk with Mitchell.

Manager Bowden, of the club, had a long conference with Mitchell at his training quarters. "Bat" Masterson, the well-known Colorado sport, was present. Mitchell said that his objection to signing the amended articles was not because he wanted to "crawfish" but due to the fact that he was a foreigner and did not want to violate the law of the state. Mitchell further claimed to be anxious to meet Corbett at any time and place and said that he came to America and place and said that he came to America and piace and said that he came to America for that express purpose. When Manager Bowden, of the club, got back to Jacksonville from Mitchell's training quarters, he found Corbett in the city. When the chappion was shown the amended articles, signed by Mitchell he "cut up rough" about the change in the clause relating to the gloves. Corbett claims that as champion he has the Corbett claims that as champion he has the undoubted right to furnish the gloves and says that Bowden has been led into a trap by Mitchell by which the latter hopes to get out of fighting at the last moment by raising a dispute about the gloves. Now Corbett Is Kicking.

Corbett was in a great passion, and swore that he would not sign the amended articles unless it was stipulated that, in case of unless it was stipulated that, in case or dispute, each principal might furnish his pwn gloves, said gloves to weigh not less than five ounces. To pacify Corbett, this additional amendment was made, and Machell, when informed of the change by wire, answered that it was satisfactory. Corbett seems to fear some trick by which Mitchell may evade meeting him at the last moment.

The ordinance passed by the city council last night opens up another recourse for the club, so its members claim. The effect of the ordinance is to license glove contests. The club proposes to get a ilcense and demand police protection from the city in the carrying out of what it claims a lawful programme. If the county authorities interfere and stop the contest, the city will be sued for heavy damages for not preventing any interference with what it deenses as lawfu... Regarding the change in the articles leaving the place for the contest to be selected, the Southern Associated Press correspondent asked Manager Bowden if the desire of the club to have the privilege of naming any place meant that the club might find it necessary to name a secret place. He replied, no, indeed, they could not afford anything of the kind. It would cost them just about $30,000. That was a little too much of a luxury. They were satisfied that contests were lawful were satisfied that contests were lawful, and proposed to have the thing publicly. The club members still talk confidently of their ability to pull off the fight, but how they propose to do it in the face of Governor N'tchel's opposition is one of the things they are keeping from the public.

The Latest Scheme. Late last night the Associated Press cor-respondent learned from a gentleman who is very close to the managers of the Athletic Club, that it is proposed to pull of the contest just as the Sullivan-Kilrain mill was at Richburg, Miss., in 1889. The club managers will select some suitable place in the country convenient to a railway line for the scene of the fight. Special trains will be chartered by the club, tickets sold at a rate that will cover expenses, and the large crowds that are expected will thus be transported to the place selected for the fight. The site selected for the fight. The site selected will be kept a close secret, and when the special trains start on January 25th, no one, save the club managers, will know the objective point. In this way the club people hope to outwit Government with the leave to the contract with the leave t erior Mitchell and pull off the fight without interference. The plan is feasible, as if the site is kept a secret, it will be impossible for Governor Mitchell to get a sufficient force on the spot in time to prevent the fight fight.

It is believed that the above plan has been selected and that the knowledge that it can be successfully carried out is causing the club managers to express such confidence in their ability to bring the match to successful issue. The Methodists Take Action.

Jacksonville, Fla., January 3.—A special to The Times-Union from Palatka, Fla., says: The Florida conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, met in annual session today. Bishop Atticus G. Haygood, of Georgia, presided. Soon after the conference was called to order, the following presemble and resolutions were unaniing preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, efforts are being made to have a prize fight in the vicinity of Jacksonville and thus bring disgrace on the entire state, and, whereas, Governor Mitchell is steadily opposing the fight and using every effort to prevent it, be it

"Resolved, That we tender to the governor our endorsement and hearty appreciation of his action; second, that a copy of the preamble and resolutions be sent to Governor Mitchell and the press."

How About Augusta? Augusta, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—
Augusta has a chance to get the Corbetts Mitchell fight. Mr. Jack O'Brien, of this city received a telegram tonight saying that if police protection would be guaranteed, the fight would be held here. Mr. O'Brien is working to see if he can arrange matters so he would be safe in making the guarantee. If Augusta gets the fight it is considered it would give Augusta a big advertisement, attract thousands of people to the city and leave considerable money here.

IN FAVOR OF THE TAX HOWARD IS GUILTY.

vidual Incomes.

Two Per Cent on All Incomes Over | He Received the Verdict with Lit 84,000 Is Advocated.

SENATOR COLQUITT STILL IMPROVING HIS FRIENDS STICK FAST TO HIM

His Health Promises to Be All Bight for Him to Make the Next Senatorial Race.

Washington, January 3 .- (Special.)-Congress is growing more devilish every day, so to speak. It is growing more independent. It is beginning to think for itself and it looks like the will of the people is now going to rule. The agreement of the ways and means committee to report an individual income tax of 2 per cent on all income over $4,000 is a victory for the great mass of people of this country, and Judge Turner, of Georgia, deserves credit for casting the decisive vote of the committee on the side of the people. He did this in face of the fact that the administration was tugging wildly at his coat tail to pull him on the other side of the fence. A large majority of the democrats of the house welcome enthusiastically this report of the committee. Western democrats claim that it makes such states as Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan surely democratic, while it will make the party extremely popular in all the western states. Southern men be-lieve it will have the effect of knocking the remnants of the third party in the various southern states to the four winds. There are, of course, a few democrats kicking, but they, with the exception of -epresentative Black, of Illinois, are almost exclusively from eastern states. New York and New England men who represent city districts are opposed to an individual income tax, but it not believed they will cut a very large figure in the house. Indeed it is not believed that they have sufficient strength to defeat this feature of the revenue bill, although Mr. Bourke Cockran, of New York, stated some time ago that he would be forced to fight an individual income tax on the floor of the house. It is not probable that he will do so. Mr. Cockran is too good a democrat to desert a report from his cwn committee though he may vote against it. It is not probable that he will make a fight against it. There is going to be a hard fight in the house to pass this individual income tax.

Expected to Pass the House. The republicans will vote nearly solidly against it, and they will have a small following of democrats, but the populists will probably vote solidly for the income tax. It is generally believed that it will carry in the house by a fair majority. The danger is in the senate. The Louisiana senators may vote against it in order to get a tax on sugar, and indeed, already there is a scheme on foot in the senate to place a sufficiently large tax on sugar to raise all the revenue required, and thus do away with the necessity for an income tax.

The bill, as it will be reported from the committee on ways and means, will tax all incomes over $4,000 at 2 per cent. This means the incomes of corporations as well as the incomes of individuals. But where a man derives part of his income from a corporation, and that income is taxed as the income of the corporation, it is not again taxed as the income of the individual Members of the ways and means committee say that the collection of this tax will not require the army of collectors that its opponents have been claiming. The tax will be collected by the internal revenue department and it will require very few ad-tional clerks to attend to the business. The tariff debate may open in the house tomorrow. It is probable that the demo cratic caucus on it will be held on Friday night. There is a good deal of talk about opposition to the tariff bill, but it all comes from a few sources. Four of the Louisians men may vote against the bill on account of its treatment of sugar. One or two New York democrats may vote against it, but, all told, it is not probable that there will be a dozen democratic votes cast against the bill. There are a number of the democrats, however, who will endeavor to amend the bill in certain particulars, but in the event of failure they will not vote against it

Some of the Alabama men want to amend their iron schedule, but, in the event they fail, they will not go so far as to vote against the bill. Colonel Oates, of Alabama, says he will vote for a tax of 50 cents a ton on iron and coal unless the caucus decrees otherwise. He also thinks sugar should be taxed 1 cent a pound, but, like nearly all democrats, he will abide by the decision of the caucus. The bill will probably be adopted by the house and sent to the senate within three weeks.

Estill or Beckwith.

Washington, January 3.—(Special.)-The appointment of a surveyor of the port of Savannah will be made shortly. Brock Beckwith is heavily endorsed, and will secure the place if it is not given to Colonel Estill, editor of The Savannah Mornin News. The department is anxious for Colonel Estill to apply for the place, and he has been told that if he will simply express a desire he can have it; but Colonel Estill has endorsed Mr. Beckwith, and refuses to make his wishes known, whatever they are, in the matter. Senator Colquitt's Health.

The Georgia statesmen who are counting on succeeding Senator Colquitt had just as well pull in their sails, if they expect his health will force him to retire. The senator is improving wonderfully. He actually left his roller chair and walked into the senate chamber this morning. This is the first time he has left his chair in more than a year. His colleagues were very much surprised to see him walk into the chamber and flocked around to extend their congratulations; even the vice president called a senator to the chair and walked to the Georgia senator's desk to extend his congratulations. Senator Colquitt's mind is as vigorous as in his palmiest days and his body is becoming stronger each day. His physicians think his prospects of complete recovery are good. his roller chair and walked into the senat body is physicians think his prospects of the physicians think his prospects of the physicians think his prospects. Mr. Boutelle, of Maine, attempted to get up his Hawalian resolution censuring the president this morning, but Mr. McCreary, of Kentucky, raised the question of consideration, which prevented. The republicans then refused to vote and on account of the absence of a quorum dead-locked the house. In consequence, nothing was done today.

MR. TURNER'S VOTE CARRIED IT JURORS BALLOTED ONLY ONCE

tle Show of Emotion.

A Motion Will Be Made for a New Trial Immediately-A Heavy Bond Will Be Named.

Jackson, Tenn., January 3.-(Special.)-"Rev." George Frederick Burgerne Howard, the great foreign claim swind.er, was found guilty as charged on the eight indictments, and he will do time at the United States prison, at Columbus, O., unless the supreme court of the United States, to which he appeals, reverses the cision of the lower court. The verdict of and was found on the first ballot. One of the jurors, after his discharge, said that they had made up their minds as to what would be their verdict before the arguments begun, as the proof was so overwhelming. He said there was not a single dissenting voice during the deliberations of the jury with the exception of one man who had some doubts as to whether Howard was William Lord Moore. When it was shown him that even if such be not true, it would make no difference, as it was Howard they were trying. This juror came around all right.

The Bond Will Be Heavy.

Howard will have to make his bond to-morrow morning, and as the amount will probably be not less than $20,000, he will have considerable difficulty in making it. The gentiemen who went on his previous bond of $8,500 will have some hesitancy in bond of $3,500 will have some nesitancy in signing their names to any paper that will endanger their finances. The effect of the verdict on the defendant's family and connections is a most sad one. Mrs. S. E. Hughes, his mother-in-law, who was at her home across the street from the federal building when the news reached her, ran out on the street, protested vehemently and out on the street, protested vehemently and charged the government with having persecuted rather than prosecuted her son-in-law. She was taken back into the house by friends, and it is thought her mind will be seriously affected. Mrs. Howard, wife of the defendant, who was present during this morning's session, was not out this afternoon, having been prostrated by the finding of the jury. out on the street, protested vehemently and of the jury.

The members of Howard's church, more the jury has said the defendant, under his various aliases, is guilty, and the general public upholds it. The sentence, however, is a small one, compared with the magnitude of his crime and the large territory over which he operated. Thousands of deluded, illiterate people have been taken in by Howard.

After the court charged the jury last night, the twelve men repaired to their chamber, but immediately ad-journed until this morning at 8:30 o'clock, when they commenced delibevations and on the first ballot reached the verdict that pronounced Howard as guilty on each of the twenty-four counts of the eight indictments. It was 9 o'clock when the jury filed into the courtroom, and the great throng of spectators saw depicted in their countenances what their verdict would

"Gentlemen of the jury, the marshal informs the court that you desire to make a report," said Judge Hammond, as the jurors took their seats in the box. "We do," replied the foreman, rising and approaching the bench

'Have you reached a verdict?" "We have, and find the defendant gullty." "Guilty, so say you all?" and after each juryman nodded assent the court thanked them for their services during the past four weeks and discharged them. When the verdict of the jury was made known the defendant's countenance was a puzzle, Aside from the paleness of his face and restlessness of his eyes there was little to indicate that Howard was any more concerned in the verdict than 500 others who were present. Howard sat at the bar, surround by his counsel and by his wife and other members of the family. A scene was anticipated, but there was none. Mrs. How ard grouned almost audibly and clasped her hands for a moment, but soon recovered composure and sat during the remainder of the proceedings as though carved out of stone.

Wants a New Trial At this juncture the court turned to Mr. Canada, counsel for the defendant, and asked him what further proceeding he would have before sentence should be pronounced on the defendant. Mr. Canada arose and made the usual application for a new trial and arrest of judgment until he and his associates could prepare the pa-

The counsel asked that at least two day's time be granted him to prepare the papers, and the court asked him to name the points and the court asked him application, that it and the court asked him to name the points on which he based his application, that it might know whether to grant the time. Mr. Canada arose and said there were defects in the indictment, an error in not allowing the defendant ten challenges and an error of court in expressing an opinion to the jury during the introduction of testimony. These points were briefly around to the jury during the introduction of tes-timony. These points were briefly argued and the court said the defendant and his counsel could have sufficient time to draw up their bill of exceptions and prepare their papers. The defense then sprung the question of sentence and the same was argued until noon, when the court adjourned until 2 o'clock. It was claimed by Howard's counsel that inseruch saths described.

and the definition with the depth adjointed until 2 o'clock. It was claimed by Howard's counsel that inasmuch as the eight different endictments had been consolidated and the defendant tried on them, that only one sentence could be given to the prisoner, that is, a term of not more than eighteen months in prison and a fine of $500.

At the afternoon session the question was resumed and argued pro and con for two hours, when the court ruled that each indictment and each of the three counts in each indictment stood alone and sentence could be given the prisoner accordingly. This was left with the discretion of the court and if it be of mind to give the defendant the full penalty of the law it would virtually result in a lifetime sentence. Turns Pale.

Turns Pale.

When the court made its ruling Howard's face flushed and he trembled perceptibly and his lips parted as if he would say something, but he did not. Until this moment he had gone through the proceedings with indifference, but as these words fell from the court's lips he realized that liberty would probably be denied him the remainder of his life. The terrible strain told on him and his eyes glistened with tears. His face turned an ashy white. The marshal was directed to take charge of the prisoner and conduct him to fail, but, upon the solicitation of Howard's wife, he was taken to the marshal's office, and there with a guard, to remain until tomorrow morning, when sentence will be pronounced on him. pronounced on him.

The verdict of the jury was unaning erpecially the female portion, still believe in his innocence, and while some few have announced that the believe their pastor to have been guilty to a certain extent, they protest against the verdict and say that his crime does no justify the verdict. This trial ends, the only case of fraudulent European claims ever presented by the United States government, as the guilty parties could never before be captured. Howard has operated under various aliases for several years and Uncle Sam/has spent thousands of dollars in the attempt to bring him to justice. In 1890, under the name of E Ross, he launched out this gigantic scheme in New York and so successfully were his plans carried out that he had operated one year and succeeded in deluding hundreds of illiterate people in overthirty-seven states before the agents of the government located him. Officers went to his place of business to arrest him, but he had smelt a rat and skipped. In 1891 he turned up at 5 Ingersoil road. Shepperd's Bush, London, Eng., as William Lord Moore, and using the same victims resumed his operations, fleecing them in nearly every case out of five or six pounds. He was unmolested for several months but soon letters of complaints were received by the American legation from the defrauded citizens of the United States, and he was requested to leave England. Back to New York citr he returned and as Joseph Leger, American agent for the supreme court chancery, Lon-RECEIVING THE VERDICT. returned and as Joseph Leger, American agent for the supreme court chancery, London, he again took the same victims and continued his swindling scheme. After fleecing them he returned to Jackson, after long absence in Europe looking after the a long absence in Europe looking after the Gulf and Tennessee railroad, and opened up a shop, styling himself as president of the great mythical wind line. Under this shield he continued his fraudulent business until last July when he was arrested. The Constitution's correspondent sought an interview with Howard late this afternoon to the marshal's office, where he was kent n the marshal's office, where he was kept confined, but he refused to be seen by newspaper men. His meals are sent to him by his family who are using every effort to make his confinement as comfortable as Conched Witnesses Arrested. Smith, Healy and Gleason, three of Howard's coached witnesses, were arrested tonight and placed in a cell to answer a charge of perjury. Brockaway, the leader of the crowd, is still at large.

Was a Robbers' Den Beneath the Agricultural Building.

chitago, January 3.—A robbers' roost, rich with plunder, has been found beneath the floor of the great agricultural building at the world's fair grounds. The thieves escaped, but much valuable stolen property was recovered. The den was sumptuously furnished with Turkish rugs, fabrics from foreign looms, rich draperies and comfortable divans. Fine brandies, high wines and imported cigars were scattered about the place in great profusion. The two men imported cigars were scattered about the place in great profusion. The two men were seen stealing whisky bottles, and following them, officers found the den. The men dropped through a hole in the floor and the officers in pursuit found a well-beaten path under the building leading to the den. It is probable that the thieving has been going on ever since the close of the fair, as articles have been missed from the building for many weeks. building for many weeks

GROSS CARLESSNESS.

Tennessee Has Been Paying Coupo Years Before They Were Duc. Nashville, Tenn., January & —(Special.)— The clerk of the state funding board has found evidence of gross carelessness on the part of former administrations. About $300 of coupons paid but not canceled were also found.

Western Union Burned Out and Five Blocks Destroyed.

TELEGRAMS SENT OUT FOR HELP

A High Wind Was Blowing-Cleveland, Detroit and Adrian Sent Engines and Men and Did Good Work.

Toledo, O., January 3,-Fire tonight caused a loss of one and a half million dollars. If broke out a few minutes after 6 o'clock in the elevator of F. N. Quale & Co., on the river fronting on Madison and Water streets. The cause is as yet unknown. An explosion of dust caused a general alarm. The elevator, with its entire contents, was destroyed. A strong northwest wind carried the flames across Madison street to the elevator and the business block of C. A. King & Co., which is also a total loss. The flames also spread westward across Water street to the rear of a large five-story business block, known as the Chamber of Commerce building, owned by Hon. T. P. Brown and occupied by the Western Union Telegraph Company, the American District which was also destroyed. From this the flames spread south, to the next building, five stories high, occupied as a museum and theater, known as "Won-derland," managed by C. H. Moore. This was gutted by the flames within a few

Company and a large number of offices,

The next building southward was the wholesale drug house of West & Truax, which is also a total loss. A strong fire wall checked the flames in this direction.

Leaping Across the Streets.

To the west they leaped across Summit-street, the chief retail street of the city, injuring the Hartford block, but the fire was here checked without great damage. In the rear of this building is the office of the Postal Telegraph Company, the manager of which removed all the apparatus possible, thus cutting off all telegraphic communication for a time, as the Western Union office and instruments were destroyed in toto. The Young & Backus elevator, the first building of that kind built in the city, caught repeatedly, but it withstood the fury of the flames. It is an abandoned building and those to the north beyond it are scarcely more than shanties. It is impossible to obtain a correct list of the insurance, but it will aggregate perhaps three-fifths of the total loss, which amounts to $1,200,000.

FRANCH'S STARTLING CONFESSION. He Says He Hurled the Bomb in the Liceo Theater.

Madrid, January 3.—The sensation of the day in anarchist and police circles is the arrest Monday evening of Salvador Franch, the noted anarchist leader, chief of the conspiracy to cause death and destruction in the Liceo theater. Before the examinin the Liceo theater. Before the examining magistrate Franch confessed to being the author of the Liceo theater bomb outrage. Salvador Franch says that he alone was responsible, when twenty-five people were killed and over fifty other people injured, some of whom have since died of their injuries. Franch said:

"Taking a bomb in each hand, I hurled one of them with all my force into the center of the closely packed stalls, where the group of select people was sitting, and

I threw the other one almost immediately afterwards, but I don't believe it exploded, or I should have killed a nice lot of bourgeoise, as I aimed it with particular care at a portion of the theater where that hated class was thick. Of course, there was a terrible row and a panic after the explosion of the bomb, and before it had in any way passed I was enabled to get away, as I was already clear of the seate and so had no difficulty in making for the staircase and from there running down into the street."

CHARLES CARLSON TESTIFIES. Says He Left Chicago Because His

Life Was in Peril. Chicago, January 3.—Charles Carlson was cross-examined by Attorney General Donahue, in the Coughlin trial today. Carlson stated that he had been threatened by friends of the alleged conspirators and said that he had left the city because he feared for his life. He was then excused, the cross-examination having developed nothing additional of importance.

Sarah McMerney was called to the stand and testified to being in Dr. Cronin's office on the night of May 4th, when a man called and said that one of P. O'Sullivan's men had been injured. Her testimony was about the same as that given at the former trial by her sister who is dead, and with whom she went to the doctor's office.

SHUT DOWN HIS MILL

Mr. Caldwell Said He Would Close It if It Was Taxed.

HE DID, AND THE TAX IS REMOVED

Birmingham, Ala., January 3.-(Special.)-Birmingham, Ala., January 3.—(Special.)—When the legislature met last spring and the corporate limits of Birmingham were extended, the property of the Birmingham rolling mill was taken in and the company, therefore, made liable to taxation by the city. Mr. Caldwell, of Louisville, the principal owner, protested strongly and threatened to shut down the plant and to move ened to shut down the plant and to move it away if the tax was imposed on the property. His protest and threat were re-garded as a bluff, for the mill was then run-ning on full time and was making money. Soon after the law was passed, however, the mill was shut down and some 500 men were threem out of employment. Since then were thrown out of employment. Since then not a day's work has been done there and that none will be done until the tax is removed. It begins to look like he is going to make Birmingham lay down her hand. All of the old employes of the mill have, moreover, signed an agreement not to sup port for legislative honors any candidate who will not first declare that he will vote to have the property relieved of taxation. It is reported that next week Mr. Caldwell and a number of other large holders of the stock in the company will meet in this city several wealthy New Yorkers, who will come down to investigate the prospect of making money by adding a steel mill to the plant. President M. H. Smith, of the Louisville and Nashville, whose road used to get some $500 per day in freight charges out of the company, is said to be one of the par-ties who is anxious to get an interest in the property provided the steel mill is add-

IN THE POLITICAL FIELD.

ome Parts of the State Think Birmingham Is Too Ambitious. Birmingham, Ala., January 3.—(Special.)—

It is being talked here that the extreme north and the extreme south Alabama politicians are trying to hatch up a scheme to pool issues against Birmingham's man ssues against Birmingham's man, who now appears to have a walk the democratic nomination for Mayor Rich, of Mobile, has angovernor. Mayor Rich, or Mobile, has an-nounced for the honor and Judge William Richardson, of Huntsville, will, it is be-lieved. The idea seems to be to use as po-litical capital the fact that middle Alabama has had the last governors. They also rely somewhat, it is stated, on gaining votes by calling the attention of the voters to Eirmingham's alleged selfshpress in trying Birmingham's alleged selfishness in trying to have the state capital moved here, by alleging that Johnston's candidacy step further in that direction. How the proposed combination will be worked is not known, but it is supposed that the un-derstanding is that if Rich develops most strength Richardson will come down and

The friends of Captain Johnston say such other, for the reason that Johnston is the second choice of a large majority of the friends of both gentlemen. They claim fur-thermore that it cannot be alleged that the industrial section of Alabama has had too many past political honors conferred on governor nor a senator nor much of any-thing else politically. They claim further that it is not in Captain Johnston's plat-form to bring the state capital to Birming-ham any more than it is in Rich's to move it to Mobile nor in Richardson by it to Huntsville.

This proposition is based on the prospect This proposition is based on the prospect that Congressman Oates will not be in the race—that he will not offer. If he does it will change the complexion of things considerably, for the fight will then be between himself and Johnston, it is conceded. The feeling is that if Oates expects to run it would be well for him to let the people know it without delay, so that his friends can get down to work, for Johnston is not ellewise any great to grow under his fact. allowing any grass to grow under his feet.

SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS City Trensurer Nelson, of Brunswick,

Dispensary Constables. Charleston, S. C., January 3.—(Special.)—
The new attorney general, Buchanan, assisted by Mr. Gibbs Whaley, the new master in equity, chairman of the board of control and counsel extraordinary to the dispensary, appeared before Judge Simonton today and argued the celebrated Cantini, case. The plaintiffs, G. and A. Cantini, were created and were represented by were present and were represented by their counsel, Major Theo G. Barker and Major H. G. Bolger. Chief Constable Gailard, Constables Pepper, McDonald, Strobel Heep, Gribben and others were present. Attorney General Buchanan and Mr. Whaley appeared for the defendants.

Mr. Buchanan opened the argument by reading the affidavits of the plaintiff. He then took up the charges and read number-

He said that not even the doctor's bill had been put in; that no item appeared as to how much the character of the plaintiff had been injured. The conspiracy was not sworn to. He averred that the Cantinis were agents of V. Chicco and that the liquor seized belonged to Chicco. The constables were acting under an order from Judge Islar and even if the order was wrong the constables could not be held. Major Barker was heard for the plaintiffs. AN EARLY START

Made by the Republicans in the House of Representatives

TO OBSTRUCT TARIFF LEGISLATION.

Several Active Republicans-The Speaker Silenced Them-Proceedings of Senate and House.

Washington, January 3.—There was not a very brilliant setting for the opening of the tariff debate in the opening of the tariff debate in the house this morning. When Speaker Crisp mounted the rostrum at high noon and dropped the gavel, there were many vacant seats in the public galleries. The press gallery overhanging the speaker's chair, however, was lined with newspaper correspond-

Ex-Speaker Reed, Mr. Burrows, Mr. Dalzell and other republican leaders, were conferring earnestly, and on the demowere conterring earnestly, and on the demo-cratic side each member of the ways and means committee was surrounded by a group of his colleagues. Much uncertainty prevailed as to the tactics which the re-publicans would pursue, the suspicion being that at the outset the republicans would lay every obstruction in the path of the tariff bill, and that the first step in this programme would be to insist upon a demo cratic quorum. To prevent such a mov-from being successful, the democratic whip were instructed to have every democrat pres ent when the vote was taken.

were instructed to have every democrat present when the vote was taken.

After the prayer of the chaplain and the reading of the journal, some preliminary business intervened. The resignations of Colonel Fellows and Mr. Fitch, of New York, who have been elected respectively district attorney and comptroller of the currency of New York, were read, and the speaker also presented the credentials of Mr. Adams, of Pennsylvania, who has been elected to succeed the late Mr. O'Neill. The fight then began, Mr. Boutelle, on behalf of the republicans, putting forward the Hawaiian matter to antagonize the tariff bill.

Mr. McCreary, the chairman of the foreign affairs committee, sought to avoid this subject by trying to make an arrangement by which Friday and Saturday of this week should be set aside for the consideration of the resolution reported by the foreign affairs committee in lieu of the Hitt and Boutelle resolution.

Mr. Hitt, the head of the minority of the foreign affairs committee, was on his feet, and as soon as Mr. McCreary had made his proposition, he stated that inasmuch as this proposition gave the republicans substantially what they desired, viz., a time fixed for decate on the Hawaiian matter, he would be glad to accept it.

Mr. Boutelle, during this colloquy was also on his feet clamoring for recognition, and before Mr. Hitt had hardly concluded his statement he said:

Immediately a dozen democrats began protesting. Mr. Bland. of Missouri, wanted to have the question of consideration and General Wheeler, of Alabama, demanded the regular order which he loudly insisted was the admission of New Mexico.

Speaker Crisp silenced the turbulence by a few sharp raps of the gavel, after which he said he desired to look into the status of the resolution.

a few sharp raps of the gavel, after which he said he desired to look into the status of the resolution.

While this question was being examined into Mr. McMillin asked incidentally whether it would be in order to raise the question of consideration with a view of going alread with the tariff bill.

"Certainly," replied the speaker. During the lull that followed Mr. Boutelle again made a statement which called forthe a sharp rebuke from the speaker who informed the gentleman from Maine with some manifestation of temper, that there was no occasion for precipitancy.

Mr. Boutelle would not remain silent, however, and again the speaker rapped him to order.

"If the gentleman will only possess himself," said he, "the chair will try to state the status of the resolution."

He went on to explain that the resolution affairs, and had been reported back with the recommendation that it lie on the table, a substitute being offered in its stead.

Mr. Turner, of Georgia, mai's the point that the substitute having gone to the caendar, its privilege had been lost, but the speaker, after citing several decisions, held that inasmuch as the Routelle resolution was on the speaker's table, it had not lost its privilege.

While the roll call was proceeding, Chairman Wilson came in from the house lobby and quietly took his seat. A few sprays of lilles of the valley lay on his desk. Several members came up and shook hands with him.

The vote resulted 125 to 3, the democrats lacking exactly 40 of a quorum.

Mr. McMillin then offered a resolution to revoke all leaves of absence and instructing the sergeant-at-arms to notify all absentees by felegraph that public business was suspended and requesting their immediate presence.

Washington, January 3.—When the vice president rapped the senate to order at 12 o'clock today, hardly a score of senators were in their seats, and it was some time were in their seats, and it was some time later before the presence of a quorum could have been demonstrated. The floral offer-ings of the new year were not numerous. A luxuriant bouquet adorned the desk of Vice President Stevenson, but he appeared to be the only one in the senate receiving this mark of favor.

Among the first to appear on the floor was Senator Hill, of New York, and he was shortly joined by Senators Voorhees, of Indiana, Allison, of Iowa, and Mills, of Texas.

Immediately after the reading of the journal, Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, presented the credentials of Senator Eppa Hunton, of Virginia, and the oath of office was administered to the new senator. Senator Frye, of Maine, presented a resolution declaring that in the opinion of the senate during the investigation of the committee on foreign relations, of our relations with Hawali, there should be no interference on the part of the United States by moral influences or physical force for the restoration of the ex-queen, or of the maintenance of the provisional government of the Hawaiian islands, and that naval forces should be used in the islands only for fice was administered to the new senator es should be used in the islands only for the protection of the lives and property of American citizens. NO CHARITABLE FEELING.

The Dancing Set and the Ministers Are Sore at Each Other.

Knoxville, Tenn., January 3.—(Special.)—Staub's theater, where the great charity ball was to have taken place tonight, under the auspices of the swell Cumberland Club, but which was yesterday declared off under such unusual and unexpected circumstances, stands silent and shrouded in darkness. Rev. Mr. Richardson, wanting one more fling at the enemy, devoted something over a column in one of the morning papers to the promoters of the ball. The card was both bitter and sarcastic, and conservative people on both sides are very sorry that it was written. More ill feeling has already been created over the matter than was at first supposed, and each additional card that is written only makes matters worse. The society peo ple are disgusted, the anti-dancing who triumphant, while the business men who triumphant the business men which the business m ball, and who made the proposition to the ministers whose acceptance caused the ball to be called off, are complaisant, claiming that they secured just $1,000 more for charity than they expected to secure. withdrawal from his church of many prominent members of Dr. Richardson's lock, who are also prominent in society. The affair has proved the greatest sensa-tion that Knoxville has had in many a day.

Chauncey Andrews's Will.

Youngstown, O., January 3.—The will of Chauncey H. Andrews, who died last week, has been admitted to probate. It disposes of an estate estimated at nearly $3,00,000.

The largest portion of the estate, consisting of the family residence, railroad, mill, furnace, mining and gas stocks and real estate is bequeathed absolutely to his wife, through whose counsel and advice much of his success was attained. The remainder of the estate is bequeathed to his two daughters, Mrs. John A. Logan, Jr., and Mrs. Leslie C. Bruce, of New York.

Nashville, Tenn., January 3.—(Special.)—
Silas Ridiey's peculiar method of wooing has taken him to jail. Last night he called on Josie Curley, and when she refused to admit him, broke the door down, and then, when she refused to marry him, he thrashed her. He is in jail for assault and battery.

An Old Man Missing

An Old Man Missing.

Waycross, Ga., January 2.—(Special.)— Some time ago an old man who claimed to be a detective, came here, as he said, to look for blind tigers and moonshine stills.
He was a cripple and appeared to move about with great difficulty on account of his deformity. Suddenly the old man mysteriously disappeared. He had frequently spoken of a gang of gypsies who were operating a moonshine still in the Satilla river swamp below here, and it was thought that he had gone down to investigate the report. It seems that those who had employed the old man to come here became uneasy about him as time passed on and nothing was learned of his whereabouts.
Finally two detectives came here and made inquiry concerning his mysterious disappearance and of what he had said about moonshine stills and gypsies. The detectives then went down to the sypsy camp, but falled to get any information about the missing man. They then concluded that probably he had been fouly dealt with and they began a search through the surrounding country for him. In the river swamp they found the skeleton of a man, but it could not be identified.

A Bad Convict at Large Albany, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—News received here today of the escape of Albany, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—News was received here today of the escape of Perry Vinson from the camps of the Chattahoochee Brick Company. Vinson is the most noted criminal this section ever knew and a description of his exploits as murderer and burglar would fill a volume. He is a one-armed, heavy set mulatto and is a long sentence convict. He has escaped from the penitentiary authorities half a dozen times and his recapture is worth a hundred dollars in this section, which has been the scene of the majority of his operations. He is dreaded greatly. He has hundreds of friends among the negroes, who will give him protection against recapture. Vinson was captured in this city about three years ago, while preparing to enter a circus tent, after he had been at large a long time. When at large he is a walking arsenal and it is said that no ordinary lock is proof against his ingenuity.

LOVE BEHIND THE SCENES.

The Secret Marriage Louis Montrose and Selvie Warren. Chicago, January 3.—The last act was Chicago, January 3.—Ine last act was reached last night in a little melodrama which had been played behind the scenes of the Black Crook Company, now in Chicago. Mrs. Montrose is a prominent figure in the aggregation, and she has a pretty daughter, Louise, who loved the stage manger. Selvie Warren, as much as her mother disliked him. Selvie wears black whiskers and is a villain before the footlights, but behind the curtain he had made violent love to Louise and so they were married, almost a month ago, but carefully guarded their secret until New Year's day, when Mrs. Montrose was informed of the event. That lady flew into a violent fage and had to be ejected from the stage. Monday night she was still angry and did not relent until last night, when she promised to forgive the young people and was allowed to resume her place in the play.

The Nation's Postoffices.

The Nation's Postoffices Washington, January 3.-The total number of postoffices in operation on January 1, 1894 was 68,806. The number of offices of the three presidential classes is 3,424. There are 151 in the first-class, where the receipts are more than $40,000; 674 in the second the receipts range from $1,900 to $8,000. There are also 65,382 fourth-class offices where appointments as postmasters are not made by the president. The recent raising of forty-three fourth-class postoffices to the presidential class took effect January 1st, and these are

"THE LOST PARADISE." "An interesting play rade its first bow before an Atanta audience last night at the Grand. It was "The Lost Parnight at the Grand. It was The Lost Far-adise," one of Frohman's pieces. The play, judging from its title, would suggest some-thing which pertains to things supernatu-ral, but on the contrary it only in a brief manner depicts the life of the wave at his daily post in search of a liveli

It is a play especially strong in words. It tells the story of a workingman winning the hand and heart of his employer's daughter. Some may expect a comedy, from the fact that the play comes comedy, from the fact that the play comes under the names of Frohman and Belasco. There is a good comedy bit in the earlier part of the play, and Walter Perkins sarries it with a lively spirit.

The peuple into whose hands the play is entrusted are for the most part capable and work to please. Some of them are qualified to do greater parts, but in their present roles in the comment.

Some of them are qualified to do greater parts, but in their present roles give satisfaction. Mr. Stokes, who essayed the role of Andrew Knowlton, was agreeable enough in the character. Mr. Forrest Robinson, as Reuben Warner, was especially good. In the second act, where he defies the owner of the factory to discharge him, his acting was highly commendable. The character of Ralph Standish was taken care of by Mr. Dayton in a most acceptable way. Mr. Lloyd made a good Bob Appleton. The minor male roles were well sustained.

Miss Bert essayed the role of Margaret Knowlton in a highly delightful manner. She proved to be a talented actress and made a splendid impression up ence. She has a pretty face and read her lines with intelligence. Mrs. Wilson was admired, so was Miss Marlowe, Miss Athens and Miss Rollo.

The play will be presented at a matinee this afternoon and again tonight at the Grand.

The Modjeska Engagement.

The coming of Modjeska is no less of an event than the coming of Patti. They stand on an equality as peerless in their respective lines. The great actress has made excellent selections for her Atlanta engagement and we will have splendid opportunity to study the greatness and grandeur of her art. In the opening bill she appears as Mary Stuart; at the matines she is the dainty Rosalind; at night of her second day she gives us "Magda" in a modern play by Herman Sudermann, the coming dramatist of Europe.

"My Aunat Bridget." The Modjeska Engagement.

"My Aunt Bridget." Robert S. Monroe and his musical farce comedy "My Aunt Bridget" will be here next week.

The Patti Engagement.

The remarkable interest which attaches to the coming of Patti makes itself felt at the Miles & Stiff Music Co., where the tickets are to be sold on Monday morning. A steady inquiry is being kept up, and for those who are interested we herewith give a brief account of what Mme. Patti will sing. In the first part of the programme Mme. Patti will sing the piquant and tramendously difficult aria from Rassines "Barber of Seville," called "Una Voce Foca Pa;" for an encore she will sing Tostis's new Spanish song, called "La Serenata," which is said to be the most The Patti Engagement.

Several weeks ago there appeared in the columns of The Chicago Herald a lurid story about a Russian princess dying in Paris and being out in a crystal coffin occupying a handsome vault to herself. The story went on to say that in her will she left $1,000,000 to the man who would spend a year in her tomb. He was to have one hour's exercise each day but went to see hour's exercise each day, but was to see no one except the servant who brought his meals. It said that many had tried it, but few stayed in over two weeks. One stayed six months and came out a raving lunatic. This story excited several of Rome's young men and it led to a letter being sent to Mr. Clyde Shropshire asking him of the

Here is an extract from his reply: "The story which you copy from The Chicago Herald in regard to the million-dollar prize to be won by the candidate who will remain for one year in the tomb of the dead princess, lying in a cemetery here, is not new to me. It is the greatest hoax ever perpetrated upon a credulous people, and not only to America, but into every tongue and to every clime has this most ridiculous and absurd story gone. It has been published in papers all over the world and the letters received daily by the mu-nicipal authorities in the neighborhood of the cemetery in Paris are more than one man could read in a month. It requires extra mail carriers to deliver the letters extra mail carriers to deliver the letters and the annoyance has grown to such pro-portions that the authorities have petitioned the papers to publish and spread abroad conradictions of the hoax. You would be surprised to know the number of letters I surprised to know the number of letters I have received from Americans—almost every state in the union—all of them 'swearing in the name of all the gods at once' that they will live a year in anybody's tomb—anywhere—for a cool million."

Gone to Savannah, Brunswick, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Colonel L. J. Brown and wife have moved from Brunswick to Savannah, which city they will make their future home. Colonel Brown is the well known attorney and has numbers of friends all over the state who will wish him success in his new home. Mrs. Brown, who was Miss Hattle Hill, of-Madison, a niece of the late Senator Joshua Hill, had only lived in Brunswick a few months after their romantic marriage in Albany, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—News reached here today of the suicide of J. E. Alfried, a Lee county farmer, at his home five miles from Leesburg, last night. Alfriend asked his wife to bring him a drink of water. When she stepped out to get it, he blew his brains out with a shotgun. He was a son of Dr. E. W. Alfriend, a former noted physician of this section and brother of Mr. L. S. Alfriend, of this city.

YOUNG ROMANS INVESTIGATE IT NEW OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED

The Position of City Marshal Is Coveted by Many-A New Park Keeper Elected.

Macon, Ga., January 3:—(Special.)—The city council has made one innovation, at least, in regard to the liquor business in Macon. Heretofore the clerk was authorized to give to every dealer in the city a license on paymnt of the license tax, but under the new action of the council the clerk is only authorized to give licenses to clerk is only authorized to give licenses to dealers within the fire limits. He cannot give licenses to dealers_outside of the fire limits. Dealers living outside of the fire limits must make regular application and the application is passed on by the finance committee, chairman of the council and the mi.yor. This necessarily makes some of the dealers outside of the fire limits ner-vous and anxious, as thy don't know whether or not their pplications will be

A New Park Keeper.

The public works commission has elected ex-Patrolman Ray keeper of Central City park, in place of Mr. Harvey Fennell, who has been park keeper for several years.
Mr. Ray had been a member of the police force of Macon for many years, but some time ago he ceased police duty. Mr. Ray was elected park keeper on the 1st of Jan-uary and he thought his salary would be $600 per annum, as this has been the pay of the park keeper for several years, but last night the finance committee of the city council recommended that the salary be cut to $400 per annum.

Assistant City Engineer. Who will be assistant city engineer? The city council authorizes the city engineer to name the assistant, subject to confirmation by the council, and to be paid a salary of $40 per month. It is rumored that Mr. Elkan may receive the appointment. He is a most excellent young gentleman and a splendid engineer.

Who Will Be Marshal? There is some interest to know who will be elected city marshal by the city council be elected city marshal by the city council on the second Tuesday night in February. This is a new office created by the new city charter. The salary of marshal has been fixed by the council at $900 per annum. There are several candidates. It is not known if ex-Chief of Police Kenan will be a candidate, but there is an impression among the people that he will be elected. He is now acting as marshal. Among the candidates is Mr. H. C. Billings, who is the workingmen's candidate. The workingmen of Macon and Bibb county have always been an important factor in elections here been an important factor in elections here and they think they are entitled to recognition at the hands of the city council and ask the election of Mr. Billings, No mat-ter which one of the several candidates council elects a good man will be obtained for marshal.

ELECTING OFFICERS

The Fifth Georgia Regiment Holds an Election-The Result. It is now Lieutenant Colonel Park Woodward.

The Fifth regiment, Georgia Volunteers, composed of the four infantry companies in Atlanta, the one in Griffin, the one in LaGrange and the one in Newnan, voted on the commanding officers last night and Mr. Woodward was elected lleutenant colonel.

The Atlanta companies voted in the Hibernian Rifles armory, while the other companies voted in the armories in their home

In addition to the lieutenant colonel, two majors were elected. There were three candidates for the two places and all three were Atlantians. They were Mr. A. C. Wilcoxon, who was once captain of the Brunswick Rifles; Mr. W. J. Kendrick, who was for quite a while captain of the Gate City Guard, and Mr. Eugene Hardeman, who was paymaster for the Fourth Georgia battalion.

The three companies outside of Atlanta

The three companies outside of Atlanta have not been heard from, but the vote cast shows that Captain Wilcoxon was elected, while Captain Kendrick leads Lieu-tenant Hardeman one vote. It remains with the out of town companies to settle the question between these two gentlemen. CITY NEWS.

Do They Really Want a Fight?

The Constitution has taken the posi tion that the people of Georgia are fully able to take care of themselves, without any official direction from the outside, except that which comes from the national democratic platform, We announced yesterday morning that in the state campaign this year "there should be no 'administration' or 'anti-adminis tration' fight in Georgia"-that all that democrats should require was absolute fealty to every pledge of the democratic platform. Of this statement the bassoprofundo of the patronage press in Georgia excitedly inquires, in its yesterday afternoon's issue, "Who started it?" announcing that "The Constitution has persistently and virulently opposed every line of policy proposed or carried out by a democratic president and a democratic cabinet."

Let us see if this is true. The two leading questions that have come before the administration to date have been the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law and the matter of tariff legislation. In the former case we were unhesitatingly opposed to a policy shaped by John Sherman, in the senate, and Tom Reed in the house, and the attitude of The Constitution has been vindicated a thousand times by the failure of every argument which was advanced in behalf of the repeal of the Sherman law without redeeming at the same time the pledge with which the promise of such repeal was coupled.

The other great national issue attracting most the attention of the country at the present time is the tariff. If there is a heartier advocate of the passage of the Wilson bill than The Constitution we do not know where it is. We are heartily for the Wilson bill, in the absence of anything better, though we believe that the party in power should wipe out entirely the iniquitous features of the McKinley law, and substitute a tariff for revenue only, as promised by the party and ratified by the people.

Concerning matters of finance, also a question of paramount importance, The Constitution stands absolutely and unequivocally on that clause of the national platform which favors the repeal of the 10 per cent tax on state bank issues. In advocacy of this, and of every other solemn pledge of the national democratic platform, can be considered as an attack on "the administration," then we have no more to say. Further than that we propose to stand by that platform by day and by night, week in and week out, until every pledge has either been redeemed or repudiated. If party honesty is considered by the patronage touters to be administration treason. then it is time to make the traditional "most of it."

But what The Constitution has intended to impress is the fact that in Georgia affairs we want no interference from Washington, or anywhere else. Georgia is able to take care of itself, and it will do it. We want no "administration" or "anti-administration" in the fight for the democratic nomination for governor. But the people will want to know that the man who expects their suffrage is in favor of the redemption of every pledge of the democratic platform. In other words, no goldbug need apply!

If the patronage press is intent on forcing such a fight it can very easily get it up. All it will have to do is to pick out its candidate and label him from top to bottom, "Goldbug-Bond Issue-Currency Contraction-Destitution -Starvation." There is their candidate made to order. Trot him out! Let the people look at him! Let's see if he can look them straight in the eye! If there is any man in Georgia who dares to go before the people now and say that the ten Georgia representatives and one Georgia senator who fought manfully for the redemption of the silver and gold plank of the democratic platform deserve condemnation let him have the manhood to ask the people to pass on the question! Now, if the patronage press desires to trke issue with The Constitution in its statement that there should be no "administration" or "anti-administration" fight in the gubernatorial campaign in Georgia, let them give their criticism practical shape by digging up somebody and setting him on a stool for the people to see. It has been a long time since the people have had such fun as this would give them, and we are not disposed to encourage the suggestion, because we have so unreservedly committed ourselves to the proposition that this is entirely a Georgia affair, and that we want no outside interferrence.

If the patronage press is losing any sleep on account of its anxiety for a fight of this sort, then let it come, and if the people do not have some fun this spring it will be because they don't, know a funny thing when they see it.

In the meantime, General Evans and Mr. Atkinson, itwo sterling platform democrats, hold the field alone. No goldbug has yet appeared above the surface.

A Simple Remedy.

The nations of Europe are not spending a very happy new year. All of them, with the exception of France, are engaged in wrestling with business stagnation and industrial depression.

France has escaped because she has not yet, except in form, succumbed to the single gold standard. Her currency is still on a bimetallic basis. Her stock of silver coin is not kept at par with gold by redeeming it in gold, for silver is not by law convertible into gold in France. It is kept at par because it is recognized equally with gold as the money of final payment. It is recognized as money and is held by the Bank of France and its branches as a cash reserve.

This is very simple, indeed, but it is the whole secret of the present and past prosperity of the people of France. The German war indemnity was a tremendous blow at the resources of the French people, and the Panama canal scheme robbed them of millions, but they paid the indemnity promptly and pocketed the canal losses, and there they are, progressing and prospering, while the nations all around them are crushed beneath the weight of the single gold standard, which destroys values and knocks down prices.

In our own country the single gold standard was in operation before the repeal of the Sherman law. It was established by that eminent bankrupt, Charles Foster, who made silver and silver certificates redeemable in gold. We opposed, not the repeal, but the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law so that the democratic pledge of bimetallism might be substituted.

But no formal law is necessary. The administration can relieve the situation instantly by announcing that hereafter our stock of coined silver shall be recognized as a part of the treasury's cash reserve-that the silver coin, as well as the gold coin, shall be employed as the money of final payment. Instantly the pressure of the single gold standard would be lifted, our currency system would be placed practically on a bimetallic basis, and the country would enjoy something like its old-time prosperity.

That is the remedy for the present troubles, but it is so simple that those who have charge of affairs will not undertake to apply it.

An International Question.

Beginning with the new year the old lottery in Louisiana ceased to exist, and the Honduras national lottery sprang up to take its place. It remains to be seen whether federal legislation has completely defeated this powerful organization. It has been driven out of the country, but it may be that under the conditions of the international postal union it will be as active among us as was the case when it had its headquarters in New Orleans.

This great lottery company will be come an overshadowing power in Central America. It pays Honduras an annual bonus of $1,000,000 and a percentage on ticket sales. This will probably amount to $2,000,000 a year, more than the former revenue of the republic. The company will own an island and all the real estate it needs. Its materials will be free of duty, its employes will be exempt from military service, and it will enjoy valuable concessions and the protection of the government.

The concern will announce its draw ings by telegraph and send its circulars in sealed letters. Practically it will be the government of Honduras, and it is doubtful whether this country can do anything against it unless we cut off all intercourse with Honduras.

It is an interesting international prob lem and it will take time and new meth-

A Southern Federal Prison

The effort to secure the location of a prison in Atlanta for the incarceration of offenders sentenced by the federal courts has been formally renewed by the federal grand jury, and will be supplemented by the efforts of the court officials of the northern district. This is an effort that ought by all means to succeed. It has in it the element of utility, strongly supported by the element of humanity. We do not look with favor on our excise system It is undemocratic in principle and in its results. We do not believe that the violation of a tax law should be punished as a felony. We do not believe in the Russian system of sending offenders into Siberian exile. Nevertheless, the excise system is fact. It seems to be fastened on the country for good and all. In other words, the people who are not hurt by it seem to be willing to tolerate it for the revenue there is in it. This being the case, it is the duty of the people's government to so far provide for the accom modation of offenders as not to make their incarceration a torturous struggle between life and death.

Congress has already voted for a southers prison, but its location is yet to be provided for. Every consideration of utility and humanity points to Atlanta as the proper place for a southern federal prison. For many years southern offenders against the excise laws were sent to serve their terms at Elmira. The result was that a sentence of imprisonment by the federal court here was practically a death warrant. These southern men, taken from a temperate climate, were tortured by the extreme cold of the north, and those that survived returned to their homes with their health and strength gone-mere physical

The case is not much better now The climate of Columbus, O., has few advantages over that of Elmira. Men who are born and raised in the southern climate cannot safely be imprisoned where they are subjected to the rigor of northern winters. Their sufferings are in the nature of physical torture.

We urge upon the southern congress men, therefore, the necessity of giving a strong and a united support to the movement to locate a federal prison in Atlanta. The climate here is a happy medium between the extreme heat of the more scuthern latitudes and the extreme cold of the north. Atlanta, more over, is the center of the region where offences against the excise laws have heretofore been most numerous, and imprisonment here will not mean a Sibe rian exile for those who are unfortunate enough to be caught in the toils of this Russian system.

A Pointer.

While the great mid-winter exposition in San Francisco has formally opened its gates, it is announced that the show will not be in full blast for about three weeks, the delay being caused by the time required to move the foreign exhibits from the Chicago world's fair.

Among these foreign exhibits will probably be found all that were sent to the world's fair from the Spanish Americas. It ought to be an easy matter to capture the entire bunch during the San Francisco fair, and perfect arrangements for their shipment to Atlanta next summer in time for our Cotton States and Pan-American Exposition. There is no reason why we should not secure all of them.

The Income Tax.

In the ways and means committee, when the question of an income tax came up for consideration, the democratic policy prevailed. Mr. Bourke Cockran, representing the eastern policy of exempting incomes from taxation, offered as a substitute for the revolution before the committee a proposition to tax the incomes from corporations 1 per cent and inheritances 5 per cent.

This was defeated, and the original proposition to levy a tax of 2 per cent on individual incomes of over $4,000, and on the net incomes of corporations prevailed. Sound policy would suggest that the rate on incomes over $10,000 should be increased to 4 per cent, and on incomes over $20,000 8 per cent These grades can be fixed and adjusted in the house. Meanwhile, it is gratifying to know that the democratic members of the committee have not fallen in with the proposition to exempt altogether the incomes of :ich individuals, but have voted to tax them coually with the net incomes of corporate interests.

As a revenue measure, the proposition adopted by the committee sill not prove as satisfactory as a rate so fixed as to increase with the increasing mco:nes, but, as we have said, the nouse can make the tax a graded one, and in this way enlarge the revenue from that source and inject the necessary element of justice and equality into the measure.

It is enough to know at this time that the ways and means committee is willing to meet the wishes of the people in this matter, and to give wealtny individuals an opportunity to bear some of the burdens of taxation in return for the protection that the government affords

So far as the corporate interests are concerned, they in every case hold their charters from a state, do business under state laws and look to the state, and not to the federal government, for their protection. The proposition that was before the committee to tax these interests and exempt the incomes of wealthy men was in the nature of a violation of the fundamental principle of democracy and abhorrent to the sense of justice that resides in the minds of the people. We are glad that the committee disposed of it in a summary manner.

Low Tariff and New Markets.

It has long been a well-known fact that our manufacturers, under the protective system, have found home markets so profitable that they have not reached out for foreign trade. When we have sent goods to South America we have sold them very much lower than they are sold here. While our manufact turers made a profit at this low rate they naturally preferred to sell to home consumers at higher prices. Our coming low tariff will stop all this

Our manufacturers, finding that they must sell in the home markets at lower prices than formerly, will push into new markets, and by doubling the number of their customers make up for the decline in prices. Of course, when we are looking for new markets we shall first pay attention to those at our own doors. Our transportation facilities make it easy for us to exchange commodities with the prosperous countries of Mexico, Central America, South America and the West Indies. The people of those lands for centuries past have given their trade to Europe, mainly because we have never made a systematic ef-

Americans who have studied the si uation thoroughly are confident, that we can secure this immense trade. Under our low tariff we can offer better and cheaper goods than Europe can offer. If there is any obstacle in the way it is our short system of credits, but this can be changed to suit the new conditions of a profitable traffic. European houses do not expect their South American customers to pay at the end of ninety days. They sell to them on a year's time and expect then that a balance will be carried over for another year. The merchants in the Spanish-American countries are honorable men and they pay their debts, but they will not buy from men who push them for money before they have had time to turn their goods over. We can adjust our credit system to the circumstances of the case If the Europeans find it profitable to deal with these people on easy terms it will pay us to adopt the same methods.

We showed in an article in these columns a few days ago that the products of the cotton states consumed by the countries south of us are purch ed in New York and shipped from that port. A better acquaintance with geographical and transportation facts would cause these products to be purchased at a cen-tral southern point like Aflanta and shipped from here via the south Atlantic or gulf ports.

But we need something in the nature of an object lesson to make these matters plain to strangers, who would gladly exchange with us if they knew just how we are situated. In order to bring about this mutual understanding no better plan could be devised than our approaching Cotton States and Pan-American Exposition. When the representatives of the nations interested meet at this most convenient and accessible center, compare notes and have a business talk, Atlanta will, by common consent, be selected as the distributing center of the vast region stretching from the snow line to the tropics. A glance at the map, the study of the products of the countries interested and the character of their trade will make all these things apparent to far-seeing business men.

TO MEET TODAY.

The Committee of Twenty-Pive Will Get Together,

AND SUB-COMMITTEES WILL REPORT

Upon Different Features of the Organization for the Work.

ATLANTA'S ENTHUSIASM IS SPREADING

To the Other States of the South-A Mississippi Man's Strong Talk-Some Suggestions Thrown Out.

The members of the committee of twenty-five will meet at the office of Colonel W. A. Hemphill, in the business department of The Constitution ing will be a very important one and a full attendance is desired.

It is exposition, exposition everywhere. Nothing like it was ever known before. We have had our expositions, splendid affairs all of them, and in all a great deal of interest was manifested, but there has never been in the history of the city anything to compare with the unanimity of the interest in this project and the enthusiasm of everybody over it.

On all sides the exposition is the talk of everybody. There is no exaggeration in this, no attempt to work up an exposition boom, simply a statement of facts.

Everybody who comes to the city, pecially from another part of Georgia or from any of the cotton states, reports the greatest interest being manifested by the people all sections. The proposition to hold the Cotton States and Pan-American exposition has certainly struck a popular chord and there is every reason to believe that it would be absolutely impossible to have secured a more; opportune time for the movement than the present.

A Voice from Mississippi. "It is just like you fellows," said Colonel D. B. Lovell, a prominent Mississippian, who came in on the West Point train yesterday. "You always do everything which should be done and you have the happy faculty of striking exactly at the right time. Everybody out our way is interested in the proposition and the fact that you have taken steps for a new organization is that there will be no hitch in it, and that the exposition will be held and that it will be a great big success. I read your Constitution coming in on the train today and I was struck with the statement of your prominent dealers in real estate. I can see, however, what they say can be absolutely true, for I can see that the effect of the exposition was felt immediately upon the decision to hold it.

"There was one idea thrown out which struck me very forcioly and that was, had it not been for this proposition of Atlanta the south would have been greatly injured by the failure to be properly represented at the world's fair. Every man who went to the fair himself has felt chagrined at finding absolutely nothing there to display the resources of the southern, states. While that seemed a great calamity to us all then, it will unquestionably redown to our bene if Atlanta holds an exposition of the kind and of the scope contemplated. Your exposition, as I understand it and as its name indicates, will be international in its character and will deserve a place as one of great expositions which the world has known. While it will be very wide in its scope, the exhibits will be purely southern and in this way the resources and products of the south will have a much better opportunity of being shown to the world than they could possibly have had at Chicago. While the crowds to be smaller, a great doal small er, than those which attended the world's fair, they will still be very large, I am sure, because a great many people are going to come to Atlanta from every section of this country and from the world at large. The people who will come from the north will be the people who we especially want to see our displays, and I am sure that there is no estimating the tenefits that that exposition is going to give, not only to Atlanta, but to the entire south. I tell you, it is one of the greatest moves which has ever been made in the south and not only Atlanta, but everybody in the south who is going to be benefited by this exposition ought to take a hand and bear whatever burden there may be in getting it up. Atlanta is doing the work and the rest of us ought to be glad to help as much as we are able." Will Benefit Everybody.

"What impresses everybody who goes about over the city," said one of the gentlemen who is a prominent factor in Atlanta's progress and who is taking a prominext part in the exposition movement, "is first, the very great enthusiasm, and, second, that while the people want this exposition they don't want it unless it is going sition they don't want it unless it is going to be a great big enterprise. They want an exposition on the lines that have been mapped out in the preliminary talk and they want it badly. But they don't want anything unless it is a great big, magnificent enterprise. What we wank is a great exposition, and a great exposition, no matter where it is held, will benefit every man, woman and child in Atlanta. It is bound to benefit the entire city. It is bound to to benefit the entire city. It is bound to benefit the people with the largest interests in proportion to their interests. It is bound to benefit every interest in Atlanta, every man, no matter what his business, even down to bootblack and messenger boys— in short, everybody without any question. And just as the benefits come so ought the aid to this exposition come. What I mean by benefits is that the having of it will benefit everybody and the benefits will be felt not only when the exposition is held, but every day from now until it is held without any respect to greater benefits which we believe will come afterwards. It is an Atlanta movement and everybody in Atlanta should be ready to aid it right now or whenever it is needed. It seems to me that some plan should be determined upon by which shares as low as $25 and $10 could be issued and that these should go in the hands of the people. It is to be an exposition to benefit all of the people and the people should be willing, as I am sure they will be, to take hold of it and make it a popular affair.

More Real Estate Men Talk. "I tell you," said Mr. E. P. Black, who was busy fixing up the papers in the transfer of a valuable piece of resident property, "that the immediate effect of this exposition surprises me. I have been through all that we have had and I knew that this would be of direct benefit to the city, but I didn't know that we would feel the benefit of it so soon. The condition of affairs in the real estate market, which I take it is the best possible indication of the general business condition, has very greatly improved since this exposition movement has been started. There are very many more inquiries and holders of property are not nearly as anxious to sell as they were a few days ago. I confess it has surprised me. I am sure it augurs well for the benefits to be derived from the exposition and for the general condition of business throughout the city. Everybody seems to have a large quantity of confidence intented in "I tell you," said Mr. E. P. Black, who enthusiasts in real estate circles. "I tell you, my boy," said be, "we are feeling it already. It seems impossible that that should be the case and a very decidedly better tone prevails. We have had in the last five days more inquiries from would-be purchasers than we have in three times that long before. You can count on the hearty co-operation of this firm and of every other real estate man in Atlanta, for they other real estate man in Atlanta, for they all appreciate what such an exposi tion means to business in general and to all the people."

Colonel W. A. Osborne said: "We see evidences of a decided improvement. Several deals that I know of which have been hanging fire for some days have been consummated since this movement has assumed definite shape. There is no business which gives quite so accurate an idea of business in general of a community as this. The want of confidence which has been manifest for some time past seems to be passing away and things already are better and brighter."

Captain E. M. Roberts: "There never has been a bit of doubt in my mind as to what we should do and what we should make of this exposition. It ought to be the biggest thing of its kind the south has ever known and the opportunity is here for us to make it that. Everybody I see is enthusiastic and everybody is confident that such an exposition would be of very great value to Atlanta. Already we in the real es-tate business feel the effects of it and there is a decided change for the better in our ines. The market has already brightened up very perceptibly and we are in receipt of many inquiries. This is, however, just the first strike of the good times that are coming in the near future. I believe the next two years will show a wonderful im-provement and I believe the first steps to-ward Atlanta's reaching a greatness which it would seem foolhardy to claim now, but everybody in Atlanta has confidence in Atlanta and as long as that keeps up and we all pull together as we are going to pull on this exposition the result is bound to be beneficial."

"The exposition starts out upon a line that is sure to win.

"It is the spirit of enthusiastic unity of thought and action.

"Everything that has been done has been the right thing at the right time. This has aroused the people. They have begun talking and working, and this will soon boget sympathetic enthusiasm that will burst the bonds of the state and finally traverse the whole country.

"Atlanta goes into everything with a feeling of confidence that means success.

"Let every citizen of the place talk about, the exposition in such a way as to show to the world that it will be the most comprehensive display of mineral, industrial and mechanical development that has ever been seen in the United States, excepting only the world's fair of 1893.

"Let the women, as has been suggested, organize for this work. Then have a kindergarten feature that will show the talent, ingenuity and artistic skill of our children. This might be made one of the most instructive, attractive and successful features of the entire exhibition. If properly handled it would be a revelation that would be as distinctive as it would be comprehensive. Give the children a place in the great show.

HIS PRICE IS TOO HIGH. Florida Sheriff Holds a Prisoner Charged with Murder at $860. C. F. Pons is the sheriff of Baker county, Florida. Mr. Pons is an enterprising ger tleman and is doubtless an excellent offi-cial, but he is just now engaged in en-deavoring to collect a bill from the state of Georgia which he will never succeed in collecting. Some time ago a man named Willis Hodges murdered George Johns in Charlton county. Hodges made his escape and went to Cuba.

Before that he was wanted in Baker county, Florida for being an accessory to the murder of James Sweat. Sherili Pons in some way learned of Hodges's whereabouts, had the governor send to Washington and secure extradition papers for the much wanted man, and, armed with these, went to Havana, secured his man and brought him back to

He was released on bail pending a hear-ing on the Florida charge. The governor of Florida sent a letter to Governor Northen asking whether he wanted Hodges, and asking whether he wanted Hodges, and requisition papers were accordingly made out and the sheriff of Chariton 'county went down into Florida after his man. When he got there he found a stumbling block ir, his way. The sheriff had incurred a lot of costs in his pursuit and he wanted the money thus expended. The sheriff of Charlton county had no authority to pay any bill and he left without his man. Now Mr. Pons writes the governor telling him that Georgia can have the man on the payment of the costs, which he places at the very moderate sum of $860. Under the law the only way the governor can conlaw the only way the governor can con-tribute to costs of this kind is to offer a reward, but he cannot offer over $500, so it is safe to say the gentleman from Flor-ida is not going to get any expenses out of Georgia.

The petition recites that there have been mortgages to the amount of $11,986.87 filed by the firm of Caldwell Bros., and that the firm is insolvent, having refusel payments of the accounts incorporated in duplicate in the petition. Mr. C. B. Reynolds was appointed receiver and yesterday afternoon gave bond in the sum of $5.000, his segave bond in the sum of $5,000, his se-curities being Edgar H. Orr and E. H. Thornton. The assets of the company will amount to $39,000-$27,000 in stock and $12,000 in accounts. The liabilities are $11,980.80 covered by a mortgage, and accounts to the amount of $14,000. The attorneys for the creditors were Messrs. Bishop & Anderson, B. Z. Phillips and Colonel A. H. Cox.

CUSTOM HOUSE CURRENTS.

A letter was received from Judge Pardee, of New Orleans, yesterday morning, in which he states that he will be in Atlanta to try the Redwine case next Monday morning. He will reach the city about It o'clock and will repair immediately to the federal building, at which time the case will be called. The father of Lewis Redwine is still quite ill and his health will probaby be such as to prevent his attendance during the trial.

The deputy collectors of the internal revenue are complaining of the very great delay to which they have been subjected in the matter of drawing their salaries. They have not received their pay for services rendered during the month of November, while their salaries for the month of December are also due. The reason for the delay does not appear, but the money will no doubt be forthcoming as soon as the collector can make arrangements to get it.

Yesterday morning the petition of the grand jury for a government prison to be located in Atlanta was forwarded to Washington of v. Letters from nearly all of the officers in the federal building accompanied the document and the probability is that the matter will be favorably considered.

AT REDUCED WAGES

Dr. Eli Griffin Offered His Services to the County,

BUT DR. GILBERT WAS RE-ELECTED

Commissioner Charles Collier Was Elected Chairman of the Commission-All That Was Done.

The board of county commissioners held the first meeting of the new year yesterday, and the features of the session, which were a long one, were the election of chairman of the board, election of county officers and appointment of the road commissioners for the various districts.

Chairman Hunnicutt called the meeting to order with Commissioners Nelms, Collins, Collier and Thompson all present, and the morning session was begun by a learned discussion by the different members of the commission as to the location of a certain road. The road commissioners of both Peachtree and Edgewood districts thought it belonged to each of them; the name of the road is Williams's Mill road. The road dissioners of Edgewood district told parties living along the road that there would not be a new road laid out to the exclusion of the old one, believing that they had jurisdiction as to district. In the meantime the commissioners in Peachtree district began to look after a new road, an order to that effect having been placed on the minutes of the county commission The order was reconsidered after a thorough discussion as to the shades of meaning incorporated in "revoke," and "reconsider," during which several of the commissioners showed that they were thorough etymologists. The entire matter was then referred to the proper committee.

The annual report of the superintendent of the almshouse was read and adopted and showed an exceedingly favorable state of affairs. There are now 100 inmates in the almshouse, and these are sustained at a cost of only 8½ cents per day. During the year just past the superintendent reports that there were made 250 bushels of corn, 400 bushels of sweet potatoes, 100 bushels of Corn, 400 bushels of sweet potatoes, 100 bushels of Irish potatoes, 50 bushels of orlons, 8,000 pounds of cabbage and collards, 2,000 pounds of hay, 5,000 bundles of fodder, 100 bushels of oats, 1,000 pounds of hog meat and 600 pounds of beef. Immediately after receiving the annual report of Dr. Hope, the board adjourned sine die for the purpose of reorganization. Mr. Hunnicutt was asked to take the chair.

Collier Elected Chairman.

'Since," said Commissioner Nelms, "my friend, Mr. Hunnicutt, has been so long with the chairmanship of th and for fear that the impression that there is no one else can fill it will get out, I nominate Mr. Collier as chairman. I also move that we vote viva voce." The motion was put by Mr. Hunnicutt, and Mr. Collier received two votes. Mr. Hunnicutt suggested that it would be better to vote by ballot, Mr. Collins asked Commissioner Hunnicutt if he was a candidate for re-election, stating that he believed that the chairman should be elected for two years.

The votes were cast as follows: First ballot—Hunnicutt, 2; Collier, 2; Fhompson, 1. Second ballot—Hunnicutt, 2; Collier, 2; Thompson, 1. Third ballot—Hunlcutt and Collier 2 each, and Thompson 1. Fourth ballot—Hunnicutt, 1; Thompson, 1; Collins, 1; Collier, 2. Fifth bellot—Hunnicutt, Collins and Thompson 1 each; Collier, 2. Sixth ballot—Collier, 2; Thompson, 2; Nelms, 1. Seventh ballot—Hunnicutt, 1; Collins, and Thompson, 2; Nelms, 1. Seventh ballot—Hunnicutt, 1; Collier and Thompson 2 each. Eighth ballot—Hunnicutt, Thompson and Collins 1 each; Collier, 2. Ninth ballot—The same. Commissioner Nelms announced at this juncture that it was baby play to consume so much time, and on the next vote Commissioner Collier received three votes and was announced chairman of the board of com-missioners for 1894. In accepting the elec-tion he said that the election had taken so much time that all he could say was that he would try to do as good as his predecessor had done. Mr. Evans Asks for Information. George W. Evans, representing the Industrial council, appeared before the board and asked for a hearing. He said he was representing the Industrial council and that representing the Industrial council and that the council wanted the assurance of the county commissioners that nothing but home county commissioners that nothing but home material would be used in building the fall, and that anything made by convict labor would be barred. Also that no convict labor would be used. He said it was the sense of the council that it would be better to have no bonds than to shut out home labor. Chairman Collier replied that it was the duty of the board to go according to the law, and that the law governs the letting of contracts.

ting of contracts. Mr. Evans thought that the law should be changed and expatiated at some length direction.

Clerk Tanner Interested. Judge Tanner, clerk of the superior court, appeared before the county commissioners and asked for information in regard to the stationery used by the courts. He wanted to know if he had to furnish all of the courts and himself, and whether or not the county should pay for it. The matter was referred to the committee on public works.

He Received No Comfort. He Received No Comfort.

Engineer Baylor, who for some time has had charge of the new map of Fulton county, appeared before the board and said that he understood that a member of the board of county commissioners had ordered his name to be stricken off the stone from which the maps were to be reproduced, and that his name would not appear on the maps. He thought that this was very wrong.

wrong. "I am the man that did that," said Com-"I am the man that did that," said Commissioner Collins, the chafrman of the map committee. "Mr. Baylor has not done right in this matter by any means. I call the board's attention to a conversation between myself and Mr. Baylor at a meeting of the board. I asked him if the contract with him included up to the very hanging on the wall of the map. He replied that it did. Yet I had to pay him $25 to look after the first proof and he wanted $25 more to revise it."

"I think that Commissioner Collins did right," said Chairman Collier, "did just what he should have done. I heartily endorse his action."

Commissioner Thompson then moved that the board ratify the action of Commissioner

Some of the Petitions. J. S. Herring and D. A. Green, bailiffs of the city court, petitioned to the county commissioner to make their salaries $600 a year. It was referred to the committee on public buildings and grounds.

A petition to repair and macadamize that portion of Highland avenue between the city limits and Augusta avenue was pre-sented. It was favorably considered.

The owner of Hollywood cemetery peti-tion to have the sexton of the cemetery appointed a bailiff so that he might keep down the frequent disturbances that origi-nated from a mixture of negro and whisky near there.

Reports from Various Sources. Commissioner Nelms reported that the clock in the courthouse needed repairs. He stated that the cord which held the 1,800 pound weight was wearing out and advised that a new one be purchased at once. He was given the necessary authority.

The report of the committee on public works was a good one, but of no special importance.

works was a good one, but of no special importance.

The bond of Mr. M. M. W. Smith as bailiff in the Battle Hill district was approved.

Rev. Frank Joseph reported that the camps were in better condition than ever before. He turned in a bill for $4 traveling expenses, which was ordered paid. Commissioner Nelms suggested that he be given something extra and be instructed to devote his spare time in the direction of Commissioner Nelms.

The committee on almshouse was directed to look into the financial condition of two of the inmates, as it was understood that there were several parties who should not be there.

Both strongly denied knowing anything about the stolen money. Simons was bound over in the sum of $100. He furnished bond and was released. Minnie Elliott was released without bail. The latter has had quite a romantic history. She escaped from the third story of the Memphis convent by tying bed sheets to the window and sliding down them to the ground.

Two young white girls from Selma, Ala, giving their names as Hamilton and Gray, were found at the union depot early Tuesday morning. They came in on the late night train and remained about the waiting room looking for two young men who were to meet them.

They made inquiries of several as to the address of the young men, and a policeman heard them. The young men for whom they were inquiring are of shady reputation and the officer thought it best to take charge of the girls until further developments. They were taken to police headquarters and questioned. They said they were factory girls from Selma, and had come to Atlanta to live. They knew no one here but the young men they were asking for when found. They were kept in custody a few hours and Chief Connolly ordered that they be released.

Detective McBride, of Dayton, O., reached the city yesterday morning to testify in the case against Mrs. M. J. Lawrence, charged with receiving stolen gcods. The case was set for a hearing yesterday but was postponed for some reason. The detective was shown over the city by Chief of Detectives Wright. He will remain in Atlanta until the case is disposed of this afternoon.

Tenight in the basement of the Central Presbyterian church a delightful entertsinment will be given by the Young Mea's Prayer Association of that church, to which all are cordfally invited.

It will be the first regular meeting of the new year and a special programme of exercises has been arranged.

In no church in the city is there more energy and spirit diffused among the young people of the congregation than in the Central church. This is demonstrated by the fact that several missions have been started by the young men, all of which are in a prosperous and thriving condition.

The exercises tonight will be largely devotional, but of such a character as to instruct and entertain. A delightful evening is promised to every one who attends this first meeting of the new year.

Ordinary Calhoun Sustains the Will of Mrs. Sarah McKenna. Not long ago Mrs. Sarah McKenna, of Cartersville, died in Atlanta. She left about eight thousand dollars to her children, making the will here and appointing J. K. P. Carlton.

Carlton executor.

In the will Mr. McKenna was entirely forgotten and he sought to contest it on the ground that undue influence was brought to bear upon her, and in proof of this cites the fact that the executor, Mr. Carlton, is a total stranger to the family. The trial was in progress before Ordinary Calhoun and the attorneys for McKenna set forth that he did not have the proper jurisdiction. Judge Calhoun overruled this and after hearing all the evidence sustained the will.

NEW YORK, January 3.—At the opening of business on the stock exchange today, a determined effort was made by the short interest to depress prices, which was partially successful in the early dealings. Puraell, Hagnman & Co.'s Stock Letter.

By Private Wire to J. C. Knox, Managrr.

NEW YORK, January 3.—There was a firmer tone to the stock market in the closing hour, and Western Union, Chicago Gas and Sugar responded to the manipulative tactics of a prominent trader, who is now taking an aggressive part on the bull side. The rally spread to some of the low-priced specialties which are largely oversold, notably Louisville and Nashville and General Electric. New England was a strong reature, and its advance was sustained on the nurchase of prominent commission houses. The Cammack brokers covered a large line of shorts in Rock Island and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy. Boston houses bought Atchison on the announcement of concerted action having been taken by the bondholders for their majual protection. Sugar was bid up on the room shorts, but at the advance there was little stock for sale. Whisky was irregular, and western houses took profits at the rally. The Keene contingent also marketed some long stock. Sugar closed at about the highest point of the day. Cammack brokers bought, and supporting orders were disclosed on every concession. It was reported that influence had been brought to bear upon the ways and means committee to give more protection to refiners. Purnell, Hagaman & Co.'s Stock Letter.

The advance of Yesterday is attributed to the better feeling in Liverpool and a lighter interior movement, while the receipts at the ports are showing up considerably lighter as compared with last week.

Atwood Violett & Co.'s Cottos Letter. By Private Wire to J. C. Knox, Manager. NEW YORK, January 3.—About two weeks ago we estimated the amount to come into sight by the end of December at 5,400,000 bales. The exact figures, according to the New Orleans exchange, are 5,419.000. It is what is to come into sight from January 1st to September 1st that is now worrying the high crop estimators. The planter has insisted this year upon making perhaps 500,000 less than their minimum estimate of December 20th, and, while it is a great pity that the south can't accommodate estimators, they will have to stand it. What we are after is to expose the sham and the absurdity of a few men asserting a big crop and influencing the world's cotton aginners into the belief in the early part of October that the crop could not be less than 7,750,000 bales, and insisting upon it up to the latter part of December. We reach a great many readers through our New Orleans and New York market reports daily, and our desire is simply to bring to their attention what has been done to try and make them part with their cotton in the expectation of a crop that will never be realized. The indications thus far this week all point to a decided confirmation of what has been said by the cotton grower himself. It has been a bitter pill for the joint account interests, but they will have to swallow it all the same. A considerable short interest in this market has taken its cue largely from the betting and estimating people above referred to. If it will only obliterate the latter influence in making anything that they may say about the crop entirely valueless, much will nave been accomplished this year. Our New Orleans firm reports stocks at thirty-four of the principal towns and cities in Mississippi at 30,110 against 15,000 stock against 5,000 last year. The usual thing by those who are bearing the market is immediately to discredit such reports. In fact, it is a personal affront that is being given them by the interior towns and cities that they have bea Atwood Violett & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

time shaken the faith of many as to these impressions, at the same time there were reports from too many sources evidencing the same thing to make us doubt the existence of a small production this season. Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, January 3.—Before the opening of the New York market this morning the Liverpool market reported an advance of from 2-64d, to 3-64d, on last night's figures. On the strength of this prices started about 1 to 2 points over last night's close, but realizing sales checked the improvement and under their weight s decline of about 4 points had been established before 12 o'clock. Then the market started up again under the influence of a light interior movement, and by 1 o'clock quotations were about 2 points above yesterday's close. Meantime, however, Liverpool, on the receipt of an easier report from New York, had declined, losing nearly all of its earlier advance and closing steady at about 1-64d, over last night's prices. New Orleans receipts for tomorrow are estimated at 11,000 against 12,000 last week, and 9,000 last year. The semi-weekly interior movement as made up by the New Orleans exchange is as follows: Receipts 38,000 against 55,000 last week and 35,000 last year. This is regarded as lighter than had been expected, and, taken in conjunction with the telegrams and letters that are daily coming to hand, has been the main cause of whatever strength the market has shown. The emphasis and unanimity that characterizes all the news received from the south is extraordinary. Without exception almost all the reports coming to hand point to a very light movement for the balance of the season, and although past experience naturally breeds incredulity with regard to such news the fact that the movement commences to show some pronounced falling off induces a greater degree of confidence than has hitherto been felt in such news. As yet, however, speculation as dormant, and the disposition on the part of the majority of traders is to take small profits and work for reactions. The past record of the market for this season leads them to believe that such a policy is likely to be more profitable than any persistent adherence to either side of the Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular, pool tomorrow.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Circular.

NEW YORK, January 3.(—Special.)—The receipts today were neither very heavy nor very light, so, in spite of a higher Liverpool market, the market here opened only 1 point higher than yesterday's closing. There was some selling to realize profits, under which the market lost 5 points, but whispers that the interior receipts this week promise to be very light soon caused a sharp recovery. The demand was brisk for the remainder of the day, with the tone steady. Everybody's attention is now keenly fixed on the receipts. If they grow lighter prices will surely be higher, but another big rush of supplies, even for a few days, would undoubtedly, in the present condition of trade, cause a quick loss of all the advance of the last few days. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Circular.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

THE UHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, January 3.—After a weak opening, caused by heavy foreign cables, wheat advanced today on hoeral export clearances, iight receipts and light foreign shipments, and closed ½c, higher than yesterday. May corn gained ½c, May oats ½c, but provisions suffered heavily from the increased movement of hogs.

Wheat started at a decline, May opening ½c, lower at 64½c. The cause of the early depression was the discouraging aspect of the foreign markets and the consequent liberal offerings. The export clearances put an end to the decline and started an energetic advance. Clearances from the seaboard included 483,000 bushels of wheat and £6,000 barrels of flour, equal to 70,4,000 bushels of wheat. The offerings, which had gone begging at the opening, immediately found takers and May soon scored an advance of ½c. Receipts were moderate. Chicago got 126 cars, compared with 718 cars a year ago, and Minneapolis and Duluth reported 351 cars, as against 359 on the corresponding day last year. Smaller eastern, European, South American and Australian shipments caused further firmness, which continued until Bradistreet's visible was received. It showed an increase of 187,000 bushels east of the Rockles, a decrease of 23,000 bushels west, an increase in the stocks afloat for and in Europe of 322,000 bushels west, an increase in the stocks afloat for and in Europe of 322,000 bushels and an increase of 250,000 bushels in the entire visible supply of the world, exclusive of Australia. On this showing prices declined for a time, but at the close a slight rise in the price of wheat and flour was reported from Paris and reports were circulated of heavy shipments from St. Louis of wheat for exports. This resulted in a raily, which for any shipments from St. Louis of wheat for exports. This resulted in a raily, which for a price of the session a Corn was helped by the strength in wheat an depressed by heavy receipts. May opened %c. lower at 28%c., but with the bulge in wheat advanced ½c. to 28%c. Bradstreet's increase in the visible supply of corn caused a reaction of %c., but with the closing strength in wheat May advanced %c. and closed at 28%c., but %c. below the top figures of the day.

Oats were quiet, but in the main influenced by the strength in wheat and corn and by Bradstreet's small increase in the visible supply and by a decrease in the stocks of cantract oats in store. May opened \(\frac{4}{3} \) co. declined \(\frac{4}{3} \) c. Advanced \(\frac{4}{3} \) c. to close at 30\(\frac{4}{3} \) c. declined \(\frac{4}{3} \) c., but \(\frac{4}{3} \) c. from the top figures of the day.

Liberal hog receipts started the provision market at a decline and liberal offerings caused a further decline. Little buying caused a temporary reaction, but free selling started prices down again, and a loss all around was scored at the close. Comparet with last night, \(\frac{4}{3} \) pork is \(\frac{23}{3} \) lower; May lard, \(\frac{13}{3} \) c. lower, and May ribs, \(\frac{15}{3} \) lower.

Attention, Smokers.

All smokers will admit that nothing affords more pleasure than a rich "Havana" cigar after a fine Christmas dinner. Fully appreciating the wants of my customers, I have imported a special stock of select "Havana" cigars for the holidays, which are now displayed at the Big Bonansa Cigar Store, I? Peachtree street. Being a direct importer, there is no middle man's profit, therefore, I can make you rock-hottom prices. Among my celebrated handmade Cuban goods might be mentioned "La Corona." "La Fama. "Planta Ferfecto." "Ell Conqueror." "Cuesta's Concha," "Fina Especial." "El Progresso" and numerous other brands of equally fine quality. 'Inese goods are being received freah every week from my factory at Port Tampa, Fla.

As to quality there need be no comment, as their merits are known throughout the land. My stock of imported French and English Briar and Meerschaum pipes cannot be excelled. Neither can my stock of chewing and smoking tobacco be excelled. All of these goods may be had at my wholesale and retail establishment. Big Bonansa Cigar Store, I? Peachtree street. Mountains Recalled.

A BRILLIANT AND FAMOUS GEORGIAN

Who Has Measured Four Score Years in the Service of the Commonwealth-A Man of Unusual Versatility.

Dr. H. V. M. Miller is still quite ill at his home on Walton street, but his condition is not so alarming as it was last Tuesday. It is hoped, with the aid of good nursing, and his own superior skill, as one of the most eminent physicians of the country, that he will soon be fairly on the road to so early and complete recovery. an early and complete recovery.

In view of the brilliant service which Dr.

Miller has rendered to the country, not have in the line of his immediate profession, but as an orator, a scholar and a man of culture, the apprehensions of his friends were naturally aroused by the announce-ment of his illness which appeared yester-

Though well advanced in years, having reached his four score limit, Dr. Miller has always been a man of strong vitality. The prudence of his early years, allied with the vigor of his splendid constitution, has enabled him to battle against disease in every form, and will, in all probability, supply him with enough resistance to oversupply him with enough resistance to over his present malady.

Dr. Miller, in common with nearly every one else, was prostrated with the grip about two weeks ago. This was the beginring of his illness. He has been confined to his bed ever since and has suffered acute-ly from his pains incident to that epi-

The announcement of Dr. Miller's improved condition will be read with pleasure not only by his friends in this city, but by his friends and admirers all over the coun-

For strength of mind and versatility of intellect Dr. Miller has rarely been sur-passed. He has always been equal to any emergency, whether summoned to the bed-side of a patient at the last moment, dur-ing a critical illness, or called to his feet during a heated debate in the highest assembly of the nation.

It was nearly fifty years ago that Dr. Miller acquired the familiar epithet of the "Demosthenese of the Mountains." His eloquence was like that of a torrent, proceeding from the mountains by which his oratory was inspired. He plunged into the campaign of 1840 with all of the dash and ardor of a young cavalier, and was recogardor of a young cavalier, and was recognized from the start in comparison with such orators as figured in the political affairs of that time as one of the most brilliant men on the stump.

He remained in public life almost continually until 1888, when his political honors culminated in his triumphant election to the United States senate. In that body he was recognized as one of the boldest and most typical exponents of the section which he represented.

After leaving the senate, Dr. Miller resumed the practice of medicine in Atlanta.

After leaving the senate, Dr. Milier resumed the practice of medicine in Atlanta.

For a number of years he has been connected with the Atlanta Medical college, and for more than a quarter of a century has been a member of the board of trustees of the University of Georgia.

In 1881 Dr. Miller was sent to Europe in behalf of the cotton exposition.

When Mr. Stephens died in 1883, Dr. Miller, who had been one of his warm personal friends, delivered an eloquent eulogy upon him in the old capitol. Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, who was in Atlanta at that time, offered a fervent prayer on the same occasion.

sion.

Dr. Miller was born in Pendleton, S. C., on the 29th of April, 1814.

At an early age his father moved to Rabun county, Georgia, where his early boyhood was spent and from the schools of which place he derived his elementary education.

boyhood was spent and from the schools of which place he derived his elementary education.

He graduated in medicine at Charleston, S. C., and though the youngest member of his class, received the award for the best thesis on that occasion.

He afterwards finished his medical education in Paris, where he remained for about a year.

Returning to America he settled in Cassville, Ga., on the Western and Atlantic railroad, where he begun the practice of medicine. At that place he became a member of the Methodist church and was licensed to preach the gospel.

He participated with eloquence in the campaigns of 1840 and 1844 and won a pronounced reputation.

In 1846 he was elected to a professorship in the medical college at Memphis, Tenn. Three years later he was called to the medical college at Augusta, where he remained for more than twenty-five years.

During the war he served as a surgeon in the confederate army. He was an active member of the constitutional convention of 1868, and the same year defeated Foster Blodgett for the United States senate. In 1869 Dr. Miller was elected to a chair in the Atlanta Medical college, with which institution he has ever since been connected.

WAS IN ATLANTA. WAS IN ATLANTA.

A Noted Opal Swindler Recently in This City, Says Bolse City.

A special dispatch from Boise City, Ida., tells of the history of a shrewd opal thief, and says that he was recently in Atlanta. About a month ago a man who had been at the world's fair selling opals was arrested by the city detectives as a suspic-lous character. He gave his name as W. H. Latta, and exhibited before the astonshed gaze of the detectives a bag of opals. He was held for only about an hour and was let go. Later he was arrested in Birmingham. Nothing was heard here of the emigration scheme referred to in the special

It is possible that the man referred to in the Boise City special is Latta. Here is the the Boise City special is Latta. Here is the telegram:

"Boise City, Ida., January 3.—(Special.)—Ed Fleming, of opaline fame, who swindled a large number of people at the world's fair with bogus opals, and who fied the country, has been heard from. Governor McConneol received a letter a few days ago stating that he was in Aflanta trying to work an Idaho emigration scheme, and wanted the governor's aid. The press should pass Fleming around, as he is an unprincipled scoundrel."

IS FRANK BANKS DEAD?

A Rumor Circulated to That Effect, but the Officers Disbelieve It. Last Saturday night Will Howard an Frank Banks fell out at the negro club-rooms on Forsyth street and engaged in a shooting affray. Hugh Mitchell, another shooting affray. Hugh Mitchell, another negro, who was in the room at the time, was accidentally shot and he is now at the hospital and is not expected to live.

Banks and Howard escaped, but Howard gave himself up to the police the next day. Banks is still at liberty and all the efforts of the police have falled to reveal his whereabouts. Yesterday a rumor was circulated throughout the city that Flanks had died from a wound he received from Howard's pistol. It was not known at the time that he was shot, but it is altogeher possible, as he rushed off immediately after the shooting to escape capture.

If Banks is dead Coroner Paden nor the police believe the story to have been manufactured by Banks's friends to cause the officers to cease searching for him.

HE IS A SHREWD LOOKING FELLOW

He Denies the Whole Story, but There Are Circumstances Against Him. What the Typewriter Men Say.

Typewriters-cold, unfeeling mechanical contrivances and not charming, brightfaced human typewriter-are responsible for the unhappy predicament of Mr. E. W. Jackson, who claims Baltimore, Md., as his home. Mr. Jackson is a handsome young man of, perhaps, twenty-seven, with a clear, brown eye, a crisp brown mustache, a neat brown suit of clothes, and with a general aspect of brownness, but withal a very prepossessing person in appearance. He has the easy air of a man who has knocked about the world, and is unusually shrewd. Mr. Jackson is now conducting his reflections in a cell in the Atlanta police station. Tuesday night he reclined upon a soft bunk in the city prison of the Classic City, almost within the shadow of the State university. Last night he was transferred to Atlanta by a gentleman who took a keen personal delight in the mission, as he regards himself as a victim of the eleverness of Mr. Jackson.

If Mr. Jackson is the man he is saspected of being, he is one of the brightest young rogues in the country. There is a very large margin for doubting that he is that man. A few condemnatory circumstances seem to connect him with the bad man who has been a bugaboo in all of the typewriter offices of the south for several weeks. Two incidents connect him directly with the disposition of two typewriters stolen from the Yost Typewriter Company.

Messrs. Fielder & Mower, general agents of the Yost company, with offices in the Equitable building, caused Jackson's arrest. Acting upon a request from them, Chief Connolly wired Chief of Police Davis, of Athens, Ga., to arrest Jackson when it was learned that he was in that city. The circumstances leading up to his arrest form

About the 1st of December a young man, giving his name as E. L. Palmer, went to Dalton, Ga., and registered at the Dalton hotel. He gave out his intention of opening, on a large scale, a wholesale grocery estab-lishment. He rented a large store for his new business, as well as a commodious residence, which he ordered repapered and residence, which he ordered repapered and made ready for his occupancy. He is said to have employed several young men of Dalton to travel for him.

During the course of his preparations for opening business, he wrote to several typewriter dealers asking them to ship machines on trial. He seems to have had two machines on hand at the time. Among the agents who shipped him machinesure. the agents who shipped him machines was the firm of Fielder & Mower, of this city. They shipped him a machine on three days' trial, and at the expiration of that time a representative of the firm went to Dalton to close the contract with Palmer.

The agent found that Mr. Palmer had left the city and that his board bill was unpaid. Suspecting that something was wrong, Mr. Mower went to Chattanooga, where he learned that Palmer had also got a machine from the Chattanooga agency, after leaving Dalton. He first wrote to the Chattanooga agents requesting them to send the machine on trial. Reaching Chatta-nooga a few days later, he called at the office and carried the machine away to save express, as he stated. In the same way he is said to have got a Remington. Tuesday morning Messrs. Fielder & Mower received a telegram from the New York headquarters of the Yost company notifying them that a man named E. W. Jackson had sold a machine in Salisbury, N. C., and had skipped a board bill there. They tele-graphed to Salisbury and found that the number of the typewriter sold there by Jackson was identical with that of the ma-chine Palmer had taken from the Chattanooga office.

In the afternoon Fielder & Mower received a telegram from Mr. Fred S. Morton, of Athens, saying that a man of the name of E. W. Jackson, representing himself as a traveling agent of the Yost company, was him. Mr. Morton is the local agent at Athens and he wanted to know about the alleged agent. Fielder & Mower telegraphed Mr. Morton to have Jackson arrested at once. Mr. Mower called on Chief Connolly and had an official request for Jackson's arrest wired to Athens.

Chief Connolly yesterday received a telegram from Chief Davis announcing Jackson's arrest. A warrant was immediately sworn out against him and Mr. Mower was deputized to go to the Classic City and bring the prisoner to this city.

Both Mr. Mower and Mr. Fielder are confident that Jackson is Palmer, of Dalton.

The number of the machine sold in Athens by Jackson is the same as that shipped by the Atlanta agency to Palmer. They say that the government authorities also want Jackson for using the mails for fraudulent purposes.

Mr. Mower reached the city from Athens Mr. Mower reached the city from Athens last night with Jackson in his charge. He carried his prisoner to the police station and had him locked up. Jackson was very pleasant to every one, but was tacitum, regarding his arrest. He refused to speak to any one about the case until he had con-regarding his arrest. He retused to speak to any one about the case until he had consulted an attorney.

"I am from Baltimore, and have a wife there," he told a Constitution eporter. "I have no business in the south, and have no excuse for being here. I had rather not talk about my case until I have consulted with an attorney."

It a general way he denied the chafges made against him, but admitted that he had made a mistake in representing himself as a traveling agent of the Yost company in Athens. He denied the Salisbury transaction, but a memoranda of it was found in a notebook taken from his pecket, and there is little doubt about his seing the man who disposed of the typewriter there. He also denies the Dalton affair.

Messrs, Fielder & Mower have in their possession the history of a man calling blesself.

possession the history of a man calling himself E. B. Jones, who worked Richmond, Ky., early in December, in pretty much the same style as Palmer did Dalton. Jones left that city by the light of the moon, carrying away two or three typewriters.

It Took Place from Her Late Residence on Forest Avenue Yesterday. on Forest Avenue Yesterday.

The funeral of Mrs. John S. Holliday, Sr., occurred from her late residence on the corner of Forest and Piedmont avenues yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

It was largely attended by her many friends and acquaintances throughout the city, and a number of beautiful floral offerings attested the esterm and love in which she was held. The services were conducted by Dr. J. B. Robins, the pastor of the First Methodist church.

In the death of this noble woman Atlanta has sustained a great loss, and many will be the friends who will cherish her memory and rise up to call her blessed.

These three officials occupy all of the rooms on that side of the building and underneath the floor upon which they walk and work is the basement of the Chamber of Commerce building, a large airy space. Tuesday evening, when the offices were closed, the paper on the wall fitted like a hand-me-down sult, but when the offices were enemed vesterday but when the offices were opened yesterday morning it was found that the floor in the comptroller's office had sunk nearly a half inch, while there was an opening twice as great between the ceiling and the walls which were built up from the floor.

The shrinkage or drop in the floor made the floor in the comptroller's office so uneven that it was apparent, and when the change was at first discovered the comptrol-ler felt uneasy. But as soon as the building was investigated it was found that under the floor in the basement were supports heavy and sufficient to hold up a building twice the weight of the walls of the Chamber of Commerce. This made the officials feel easy and the day's work went on as feel easy and the day's work went on as though the discovery had never been made.
"I can't imagine," said Comptroiler Goldsmith, in talking of the shrinkage, "what caused it unless it was the fact that on yesterday we moved in the safe which West End used before it became the seventh ward. The safe, it is true, is not so large as some of the smallest the city has but it. as some of the smallest the city has, but i as some of the smallest the city has, but it might have been heavy enough to have caused the trouble. The truth is I think the floor had all it could darry before that safe came in, and the additional weight was what caused it to go down. But the walls are well supported and there is no trouble, and none of us are at all seared about it. The walls on the other side of the building are held up by strong iron posts and nothing are held up by strong iron posts and nothing less than the hardest kind of an earthquake

West End's Assets. The property of West End, that is the movable property of that suburb, was brought into the city yesterday by Marshal Caidwell and turned over to Comptroller Goldsmith.

Two mules and a wagon, which have been doing the garbage work for West End for some time past, were among the assets and these same two mules and wagon brought the movable assets into the city, and with them a list of the real estate which the annexed territory turned over to Atlanta. On the wagon was a complete inventory of the property West End owned before it was annexed to Atlanta. That inventory showed that West End had besides the school building and lot, two lots, a quantity of gas pipe and sewer pipe, two mules, a wagon, an iron safe and a lot of claims all of which reached the value of assets that were claimed by the committee when the articles of annexation were agreed upon.

The safe and other movable assets were turned over to Comptroller Goldsmith, who receipted for them. The wagon and mules were sent to Captain Dave G. Wylie, superintendent of public works, who put them fnto service at once, while the deeds to the real estate and the other property were listed among Atlanta's assets.

Met But Did Nothing

The new finance committee met yesterday afternoon in the mayor's office for an inafternoon in the mayor's office for an informal talk over the recepts and disbursements for the year '94, but nothing was done, as the amount of the estimated value of Atlant's realty and personalty is yet unknown to the committee. Mr. Stockdell, chairman of the committee, was out of the city and the committee will hardly do anything until his return.

He Has Gone to Brunswick. The sanitary committee for the year '94, appointed by Mayor Goodwin Monday night, made its first visit to the sanitary grounds yesterday, accompanied by Chief Sanitary Inspector Veal. The grounds were looked over and plans for the years will be suggested by the chief at a later date. At noon Mr. Veal left for Brunswick where he goes in response to an invitation from that city to investigate the sanitary condition, with a view to giving the officials some sug-gestions as to the future.

A Comprehensive Paper

One of the most complete papers that ever went into the city archives was the report of Mr. Frank P. Rice, chairman of the tax committee last year. The report not only covers the work of the tax department for the year but it shows how the tax system of Atlanta can be greatly and materially improved so that the collections may be more regular and systematic. The report makes a comparison between the work done by various committees, and while it done by various committees, and while it shows that the committee of '93 has done the best work on record, it shows how the work of that committee can be beaten.

The Bridge Committee. The bridge committee, Mr. Harralson, chairman, will have a meeting this afternoon to consider the work that should be done this year. It is understood that a new bridge on Broad street will be one of the first things the new committee on bridges will tackle. But the members of the committee say that the Alabama street bridge will not be overlooked and that before the committee say that the Alabama street bridge will not be overlooked and that before th year 1894 is out the people of Atlanta wi see work on that great highway started.

An Evil Trade.

Danger to the Public from Misleading Advertisements of Bogus Medical Practioners.

Physicians now estimate that more than Physicians now estimate that more than one out of every ten persons in this country suffer from some form of private disease peculiar to the sex. What renders it the greatest evil of our country is its deceit-fulness—the stealthy character of its first appearance. No very serious results attending its first stages, the sufferer is sometimes unconcious of having a disease at all until he has it in the rooted chronic form. Of course, the proper step for any one detecting symptoms of the malady is to go at once to some trustworthy physicician. Dr. Hathaway & Co. are probably the best—that is to say, their system of treatment as genuine specialists is the system that is attended with the greatest certainty of a genuine cure.

The trouble is that diseases peculiar to men and women are the most treacherous of all diseases. They will "possum" a cure—that is, they will seem to be cured under almost any kind of treatment. There are drugs and mixtures that will temporarily relieve or hide the bad symptoms and make the sufferer think that he is entirely recovered. That makes him grateful and he gives his advertising doctors a statement telling the world of their skill. Presently he discovers his mistake. He finds that his horrible disease, instead of being remedied and ended, has only been lulled to sleep like a toothache under opium. The that his horrible disease, instead of being remedied and ended, has only been lulled to sleep like a toothache under opium. The disease has simply "possumed." And it is this deceitfulness of these diseases that offers such an opportunity for money-making to bogus "specialists." Any horse doctor—a physician without medical knowledge enough to treat a wart—can apply those wicked remedies and lull the sufferer into a belief that he has been miraculously healed. Then, with dupes enough, he can readily fill whole pages of newspapers with the statements of grateful "cured patients." Then, if the advertisement be sufficiently pretentious and misleading, dupes will continue to enter the trap till the imposition is publicly exploded and the authorities take hold, as they have done in this and some of our neighboring cities. It is a vile trade!

The proper course is to go to some regular reputable specialist, who, like Dr. Hathaway & Co., have for the list ten years been known to all and who, by their able, faithful and conscientious service, have won the respect and confidence of the entire community.

It is one thing to be only a talking specialist and another thing to be a positive.

NONE BUT HIS KEEPERS SEE HHM

Mrs. Leger Is Hiding Him from the Officers-He Has a Piancland Plays as Sweetly as Ever.

New York, January 3.-Blind Tom, the black musical wonder, who for more than three years has been supposed to be dead, is an unwilling prisoner under lock and key in an East Side tenement. His keepers are an and a woman. The latter, who has defied court after court to take the musi-cian from her, is the widow of John G. Be-thune, Blind Tom's former master. To thwart justice and block litigation, Tom's keepers had caused rumor ofter rumor to be circulated to the effect that he was dead. Alleged confirmation of the prodigy's was had at the time of the Johns town flood, when the body of a negro was recovered and a woman came forward and identified the body as that of Thomas Wigwhich is Blind Tom's right name. As such the body was buried, and a small marble tablet bears the date and fact of Blind Tom's death.

Blind Tom's death.

But it was not the musician's body that had been laid to rest. Blind Tom, who was then in the custody of his present keepers, was secretly brought east and has since been dead to the pub.ic. He was re-moved to this city seven months ago and has since been kept in seclusion. Despite the precautions of his keepers to guard their secret, Blind Tom has been found with his wonderful musical power undiprison house is a four-story brown stone front tenement in Twenty-first street. His rooms, five in number, are on the third floor. No one is ever admitted to the prison, not even the grocery boy. His bas-ket is placed outside the rear door of the apartment and the grocery boy goes away. Then the door is opened, either by the former, Mrs. Bethune, or by Albert J. Ler-che, her husband, who stealthily emerges and, hastily snatching up the articles, disappears inside. The mysterious conduct of uple is the talk of the neighborhood. No Stranger Admitted.

As to the furnishings of Blind Tom's apartments, little is known, as no stranger ever admitted. There is a piano, upon which Tom is heard playing at all hours of the day. The neighbors have never guessed the identity of the pianist. Whenever Tom plays, the tenants crowd into the hallways and listen with rapt attention. Sometimes he sings, and his voice blends splendidly with the plano's notes.

A dozen attempts to gain access to the rooms h re been without success. Repeated knockings at the door were of no avail, although it was known that Mrs. Lerche Lerche before he married the widow Be-thune once opposed Mrs. Bethune's effort to obtain possession of the negro. That was in 1885, when he obtained the power of attorney from Tom's mother, Charity Wig-gins, to defend her son's interest in court. The effort failed, and Mrs. Eliza Bethune, then a widow, retained possession of Tom.

Lerche wooed and won the widow. When she obtrined control of Blind Tom Mrs.
Bethune was required by court to render an accounting every year. For six years she conducted the tours about the country and reaped all the profit. She has not made the accounting demanded by law, and it is alleged that she has made at least $30,000 out of the concerts in that time. Contempt proceedings have been brought against her, but she has successfully fought off the law-yers and summons servers. Blind Tom was born in Georgia May 25, 1849, so that he is forty-four years old. His mother, Charity Wiggins, although over eighty years of age, is alive and living with her children in Muscogee county, Georgia. Her husband, Mingo, died ten years ago. She had eleven other children, all of whom are said to be living. Tom was an idiot from birth, and at three years of age was sold to J. N. Bethune, of Fauquier county, Virginia. From his earliest years Tom showed a wonderful appreciation for music. On the Bethune plantation he first heard the notes of a plane. He was after found eighty years of age, is alive and living with notes of a plano. He was often found with his ear pressed to the wall of the hous when the plane was being played, and he sang or whistled airs after hearing them

At four years of age Tom astonished the Bethune family by his wonderful execution on the piano. When the boy was eight years of age his master, J. N. Bethune, toured the country with him and later went to Europe, where the musician played before the crowned heads of the continent. Over $200,000 was realized from the first tour. When J. N. Bethune tired of making money out of Blind Tom, his son, John G. Bethune, assumed the management of the colored wonder and toured him thr colored wonder and toured him throughout the country from July 10, 1870, when his father succeeded in having him appointed curator of the blind idiot's person by the courts of Virginia, until 1883, when the son

In the intervening period young Bethune married the present Mrs. Lerche. He es-tablished a valuable racing stable, known as the Bethune stable of Kentucky as the Bethune stable of Kentucky, out of Blind Tom's earnings. During all this time the idiot never received a cent for his services. It is said he was cuffed and beaten when he rebelled. The Bethunes successfully fought every suit brought in Tom's behalf. The Virginia court decided that he was entitled to a portion of his earnings, and gave judgment for $70,000, and the Bethune estate is still liable for that amount, but the judgment has never heen satisfied. out the judgment has never been satisfie but the judgment has never been satisfied. Since she acquired possession of Blind Tom, Mrs. Lerche has been enabled to purchase 123 acres of property at Navesink Highlands, N. J., for which she has paid $33,000 The property is easily worth $100,000 new. Blind Tom in the meantime remains a prisoner in the East Side tenement

The Directors of the Atlanta and West Point Hold a Meeting-Other Gossip and News of the Day.

The plan for discharging the entire float-ing indebedness of the Atlanta Consolidated Street Rallway-Company has received con-siderable strength during the last twenty-four hours. Since the company's failure to pay the coupons due on yesterday no news has reached the company of any effort on the part of any creditors or coupon holders to institute proceedings, but on the contrary Mr. Hurt has received a number of letters from parties holding coupons stating that they would not present their coupons for payment but would hold them awaiting the consummation of the plan under way.

This plan, fully outlined in yesterday's Constitution, sems to be in the interest of both the stockholders and bondholders, and it is contemplated will place the company on a sounder financial basis than it has been since organization.

Already about so per cent of the bond-holders have come into the agreement, and it is expected that others will be heard from in time, some of them being in Europe. It is safe to assume that the plan has practically reached consummation, only awaiting time to hear from all of the parties interested.

There has been a rumor circulated in the city that certain active parties are endeavoring to get together a number of unsecured claims with a view to filing a bill, but all effort in that direction seems to have been fruitless. The expensive account expensive and the company of the co fruitless. The company's accounts are all in the hands of its friends, or are ling paid as presented, and the parties who have un-dertaken to bring about a state of disaster to this company which is of such vast im-portance to Atlanta, doubteless have given up their sensational course as an unworthy

Good for the Atlanta and West Point. The regular January meeting of the di-rectors of the Atlanta and West Point Railrectors of the Atlanta and West Point Railway Company has been held and the usual dividend of 3 per cent has been declared. The net earnings of the road for the past six months amount to $106,306, and the net earnings for the same period of '92 were only $81,860. Thus it is seen that there is a clear increase of about $24,000.

The dividends will be paid out of the net earnings amounting to $73,000, thus leaving about $34,000 to be placed on the books

Railway Construction.

The year just closed having been memorable as a year of financial calamity, has naturally also been a period of comparatively small railway building, says The Railway Age. The country is not by any means yet supplied with all needed reliways. Many hundreds of practicable lines have been projected and will eventually be built, but apital has learned that railway investments are beset with many dangers and uncertainties, nd so when hard times come enterprises of this kind are among the first to suffer rfom inability to raise money, though it was evident before 1893 op that the pace of preceding years would not be maintained in railway building, yet work was soon in progress on a sufficient number of lines to make it probable that the year's total of new track would reach 3,000 to 3,500 miles. But the July panic put a sudden stop to a number of lines on which work had been actively progressing and caused serious delay in others, so that the end of the year finds many unfinished lines on which much work has been done and leaves the total of new mileage less than for any twelve months in the last se teen years. Our records show that new main track laid in the United S in 1893 aggregates 2,630 miles on 222 lines in forty-three of the states and territories also that in Canada 461 miles have been built on sixteen miles and in Mexico ninety-nine miles on five lines. Lumber Traffic Looms Up.

The following from The Southern Lumberman shows that southern railroads will have a vast traffic in lumber this spring. Says The Southern Lumberman:

"At the south, the yellow pine operations are limited, but hardwoods are fairly active. There is a dull market at Ashland, Ky., but there are preparations for spring, and prospects are favorable for a big lumber run on the Big Sandy, and the up river men generally are hustling. Trade is ac-ber run on the Big Sandy, and the up river men generally are hustling. Trade is active, for the season, at Cincinnati. The year closes at Memphis with a quiet locar market, but in good shape after the pinch of 1893. A hopeful tone prevails. Poplar will be in better supply, when the spring opens, than any other wood. Oak and ash are scarce at Memphis. At Mobile, the trade and movement of 1893 beat the record, in spite of monetary stringency. Manufacturers and dealers are looking for an increase of business the coming year. All the lumber mills shut down will resume operations by the first of the year.

The Holiday Rates. The Holiday Rates.
Yesterday was the day that brought to an end the Christmas passenger traffic on all of the railroads composing the Southern Railway and Steamship Association.
The tickets at cheap rates had been sold since the day before Christmas. They had given the railroad men a vast deal of traffic and the roads had to all put on extra cars for handling the business that came cars for handling the business that came to them. It is stated by the men in the local passenger departments that the holilocal passenger departments that the holi-day traffic was never better, and that the vast amount of emigrant traffic has done a great deal towrds making times get brighter for the southern railroad world er for the southern railroad world.

The cheap rates out of Texas allowing all Georgians and Carolinians who had gone to that state to live to return to visit their old homes here gave a wide stimulus to the Christmas traffic and the railroad men all say that the new year dawns with good feeling all over the south and the promise of a much better year in the passenger departments than last year. the passenger departments than last year proved as a whole.

An Important Case. A very important case, the Columbus Southern Railway Company vs. Comptroller Wright, is to be argued in the supreme The case involves the constitutional validity, under the fourteenth amendment, of the Georgia act of 1889, imposing taxes for county benefit upon the property of railcounty benefit upon the property of rail-way companies. Colonel William A. Wim-bish, of Columbus, represents the plaintiff, and competent lawyers who have examined his brief say he will be prepared to make a fine argument in the case.

A Good Furniture Pollsh.

From Ladies' Home Journal.

A good furniture pollsh may be made by putting equal parts of spirits of wine, vinegar and olive oil in a large bottle and shaking thoroughly every day for a week, when it will be ready for use. This pollsh should be applied to the furniture with a soft woolen cloth and thoroughly rubbed in. If the furniture is very dirty it may be ruboed clean with a woolen cloth dipped in kerosene.

NEWS THAT WILL INTEREST SOCIETY.

An Atlanta Man Weds One of Hawkins ville's Bells - Mention of People Who are Visiting.

On last evening Mr. Herbert Mitchell Franklin entertained his gentlemen friends at a stag supper at the hotel in Tennille, Ga. Mr. Franklin is one of the leading merchants of Tennille and socially is one of the most prominent and popular gentlemen in middle Georgia. His wedding which occurs on Wednesday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church in Barnesville, Ga., will be one of the most notable social events of this winter. The bride to be, Miss Helen Graham Rogers, of Barnesville, is one of the most charming and attractive young ladies and is widely known through this state. Mr. Franklin's entertainment was a perfect success—the menu was elaborate and elegant, the toasts well responded to and a gayer, joilier crowd never assembled to celebrate a similar occasion and at a late hour the party dispersed, showering congratulations on the happy bridgegroom to be. The following gentlemen were Mr. Franklin's guests:

Messrs. Clem Brown, Clayton Mathews, Edward T. Holmes, Homer Reed, Thomas W. Hardwick, White Franklin, Isadore Bashinski, Robert Davis, Harley L. Pritcherd in the promise of the party dispersed and Carswell Brown. Bashinski, Robert Davis, Harley L. Pritch-ard and Carswell Brown.

Eufaula, Ala, January 30.—(Special.)—
The New Year german given by the young ladies of Eufaula's smart set, complimentary to their gentlemen friends and to visiting ladies in the ballroom of the Columbian Club, was the prettiest of the many pretty dances that have been had there and a success in every way. The clubrooms were radiant with light and color, being decorated with evergreens, interspersed with roses and sprays of violets and draped with flags and bunting in the national colors. Music was furnished by the Rose orchestra from Columbus, Ga.

Twenty-two couples participated in the dances, led by Mr. John W. Tullis, Jr., and Miss Lula Kendall.

Pleasure and interest in the entertainment were heightened by the presence of a Pleasure and interest in the entertainment were heightened by the presence of a cotorie of visitors unusual in number and social prominence. Among them were Miss Nettie Belle Smith and Mr. John T. Moore, of Louisville, Ky.: Mrs. Roby Robinson, of Atlanta; Miss Connerat, of Savannah; Miss Prince, of Americus; Miss Carter, of Union Springs, Ala.; Dr. H. M. Weedon, Jr., St. Louis; Mersrs, Paul Barrett, Birmingham, Ala.; S. H. Dent, Jr., Chicago, and C. Duke Fullis, Liverpool, Eng.

Gainesville, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Colonel and Mrs. W. F. Findley entertained a few friends at an elegant New Year's dining today. Those present were Colonel Howard Thompson and wife, Mr. J. W. Williamson and wife, Judge G. A. Prior, Mr. W. S. Cox and Mr. Hester D. Puckett. The company was royally entertained.

Darien, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—The marriage of Mr. R. D. Fox and Miss Lizzle Lachlison, of Darien, occurred at the Methodist Episcopal church in this city this evening at 6 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. O. F. Cook, assisted by his father, Rev. J. O. A. Cook. The bride is the daughter of Hon. James Lachlison. She is a young lady of rare talent, a graduate of Wesleyan Female college, where she especially excelled in yocal ent, a graduate of Wesleyan Female college, where she especially excelled in vocal music. The groom is of excellent family and is a young man of business tact, holding a fine position in the office of the Hilton & Dodge Lumber Company, of Darien. The reception at the residence of B. T. Sinciair was elegant. The happy couple left for a trip to the Land of Flowers on the steamer Bellview, followed by the good wishes of all of Darien.

The marriage of the Rev. O. F. Cook to Miss Gussie W. Mallard will occur at the acthodist Episcopal church in Darien to-morrow at 3 o'clock. The ceremony will be performed by the father of the groom, Rev. J. O. A. Cook, assisted by Rev. Ed F. Cook, of Brunswick. Miss Mallard is the charm-ing daughter of W. S. All the doctors seem to agree in the opinion that the best way of protecting one's self against an attack of the grip is to keep the general health as good as possible, to be careful not to catch cold, to live temperately, to breathe pure air, to avoid bad habits and to take enough sleep. The grip is a painful harrassing, harmful and dangerous disease, affecting both the body and the mind.

MERCHANTS TALK MOST HOPEFUYLL

Bankers and Manufacturers All Give En couraging Expressions of Opinica.

Hold the New Year Down.

If the business men of Atlanta know what they are talking about—and they ought to they ear 1894 is going to be a hummer.
The man who predicted last summer a rich harvest this January for the sheriff of Fulton county is ashamed to show his face these bright days, and the general good feeling among the representative bus-iness men of Atlanta of every trade is indication enough that the Gate City of the south is as solid as the everlasting rock

Never was there such a bright new year All of the merchants unite to predict that this year is going to be one of plenty. They have bridged over the hard times of the summer just past most admirably and have gone to work for the coming year with a unity of aim and a unity of ambi-

The leading and representative business men of Atlanta see nothing of doubt in-the year 'hat's coming. They are all in the best of spirits and are as busy as two bees in a tar bucket selling goods and shipping off the products of their facto-

The manufacturing interests of the city were never in better shape and the men who manipulate them say they intend to do the best business this year they have ever done before.

The banks are giving their regular an nual statements to the public these early days of 1894, and it is truly gratifying to see in what good condition they begin the work of the new year.

The retail houses are selling goods as fast as their clerks can hand them out.

The wholesale men say they have noticed improvements in the first few days of the new year over the trade of the same days It is no exaggeration to say that nothsumption that business will continue good and surely it is speaking in no hyperbole to say that brighter days dawn with the new year for Atlanta than have been hernew year for Atlanta than have alded by many new years past. Bankers are Encouraged.

"I am no enthusiast, and I try to look well into the signs of the times before I speak," said Captain Robert Lowry, presi-dent of the Atlanta Clearing House Association, yesterday, talking about the condi-tion of the banks of Atlanta at this sea-son. 'No, I try to talk carefully at all times, but I want to say that I have ob-served many indications of promise since served many indications of promise since the new year opened.

"Take, for instance, the business right before my eyes—the business of the Lowry Banking Company. I observe that for the first two days of the year we have had just twice the amount of deposits we had for the same two days last year.

"This means something. The bank state-ment we have just sent out shows that we

ment we have just sent out shows that we have done a good business for the year and that our institution never begun a year with better prospects.

"I am of the opinion that we will have a steady and healthful growth of trade and business this year. I am sure we can have no such times as we felt last summer for awhile. I believe, however, that not until the country knows what to expect from congress will we enjoy that prosperity we ought to be enjoying here at the south. "The best sign of the times is the fact that the agricultural interests of the coun try are so safe. The farmers all over this state have good crops and have lived more economically than they have ever lived in times past. They have got themselves, for the most part, out of debt and will begin the new year with meat in the smokehouse and corn in the crib. This being the case, it takes no prophet to tell that we will have good times this year in Georgia.

"The plan for holding a grand exposition in Atlanta next fall is going to have a good effect, too, and we must judge from the warm interest magifested so generally here in Atlanta and over the south in the scheme that it is going to keep capital awake in Atlanta and surrounding country

Mr. Neal is Hopeful.

"Just notice how few failures we are hav-ing," said Mr. Neal, president of the Neal Loan and Banking Company. "That, to my mind, is the best indication from which we can all take promise for better times this year. The banks are solid, and to judge from the few failures it is natural to believe that there is nothing but good feeings and sound relations between the banks and the merchants and also between the merchants and the merchants are the merchants and the merchants are the merchants and the merchants and the merchants and the merchants are the merchants and the merchants and the merchants are the merchan chants and the people.

"I think the prospects substantial-not flattering. I think there will be a stealy growth of business in all trades. I am not of the opinion that this growth will be a rush, or boom growth. I think it more substantial. Look for brighter times, but dor't get in a great hurry. They are coming to stay next time."

Wholesale Men Talk to the Point. "I have heard too much talk about hard times lately to be believing in them," said dr. Stewart Woodson, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, yesterday. "As for the firm of Langston & Woodson, with which I am connected, I can say that we have had a good business all the past year and that we enter the new year with brighter hopes. Trade is good—not brisk, but good and sound and will continue so.

"There is no time to be talking about hard times now. I think the new year brings promise to all kinds of trade in the city and sure it is the wholesale bus-

"The exposition is going to attract trade to the retail houses of Atlanta and there is no reason to fear that we are going to have any hard times this year, I think."
Mr. Oglesby, of the well-known firm of Oglesby & Meador, said: "Here in our store

the new year have brought us an increase of trade over the first two days of last year and that the general feeling is good among our patrons."

Mr. Charley Branan, of the firm of Branan Bros., said: "I am candid when I say say there never was, in my opinion, brighter prospects for mankind generally than come to us here in the south with the beginning of the new year. I heard a patron of ours from Griffin say the other day that the people who trade with him have paid their debts almost to a man, and that his business is good. I hear similar reports from all over the country, and I am sure that here in Georgia we are going to get along all right in 1894. The going to get along all right in 1894. The exposition can but give us even greater stimulus and I am sure Atlanta is 'right in the push.'"

And the Retail Men.

"It is, indeed, a happy new year and one 'hat is going to bring brighter and better times to the mercantile business of the city," said Mr. E. P. Chamberlin, of the firm of Chamberlin, Johnson & Co. "It isn't worth while to be uattered by the prospect, but in cold reality what can we do but realize that we are starting out upon a better year than last year proved? "Usually at this season of the year there is a little period of dullness, and there is a sort of lull compared to what we have been having up till Christmas, of course, but beyond that the country is in good condition, the farmers are richer in that they are living at home and the general outlook is for a steady improvement."

Mr. Eads, of the Eads-Neel Company:
"We have nothing to complain of and we and active this spring. In our Macon store we have done a splendid business this year and we have done well here, though we have been new comers to the city and cannot make comparison as to business in former years here. There is always a little drowsiness just after Christmas. People try to pay their debts at that time and try to get themselves square with the world for the new year. But we expect to have a general revival soon and from that time on a steady improvement. With the exposition rising up before her each day, we fall to see how Atlanta could be feeling blue, particularly when there is so little to feel blue about."

It is the same story all over the city. The

It is the same story all over the city. The merchants of every class and trade say the times were hardly ever better at this period of the year, and one thing is certain, the wideavake citizens of Atlanta have taken new courage with the new year.

Nothing has been heard of Euless in Atlanta since Monday afternoon. He boarded the Georgia Pacific train for home that day, and should have reached home before last night. It is barely possible that he is wait-ing around for his prisoner. The Atlanta officers have an idea that this is the case, but it is not at all likely that he will get Crawford.

John Speer, a white man who works as a carpenter, has sworn out warrants against Patroimen Christophine and Stroup, and says he will have them arrested today. He charges these officers with shooting at him unnecessarily while placing him under arrest the week before Christmas.

Speer is the man who was accused of jumping out of a third story window to escape the officers, but he denies this and is very indignant that the officers should charge it against him. Speer is a respectable looking white man about thirty-five years old, and he says he is going to push the case against the officers.

Hattle Adkins and Eliza Jane Strickland are the names of two negro women who were arrested in a Whitehall street store yesterday morning charged with stealing a $20 bill out of the hand of Mrs. Vickers who was examining some goods at the time. Hattle Adkins is said to have slipped the bill out of the lady's hand and transferred it to her mouth. The officers were called in and the Adkins woman swallowed the money to hide the evidences of her guilt. The two women were carried to police headquarters, where they denied the theft of the money. The officers had no end of amusement out of the woman who was accused of swallowing the bill. Detective Looney told her that he once knew a negro who swallowed a bill and he died in two hours. At this the woman turned desperately ill and made brave efforts to vomit. Warrants were sworn out against the two women.

The banquet will be one of the most elaborate the society has ever given, and will, in all probability, be attended by more peope than have ever gathered around the Virginia Society banquet board.

This year the society will have no orator, but the speaking will be done by Atlanta Virginians around the table. A list of toasts or talks will be made out and the toasts of take will be made out and the speeches will be short so that all may have something to say about the old state. In other words, it will be more in the way of an old friendly gathering of the sons of the Old Dominion, who are now making their home in Georgia, a state they have learned to love so well and devotedly.

HOWARD?

A Party Arrested Yesterday for Tampering with the Mails.

HE USED THE CIRCULAR FRAUD

o It Is Claimed, and Pocketed a Lot of Money for Which He Gave No Value Received.

A quiet investigation, which has been in progress at the custom house for several weeks, will likely terminate this morning in a preliminary trial before Judge Broyles, the United States commissioner. From a glimpse of the matter, which was caught yesterday afternoon, it promises to afford a lively sensation.

Postoffice Inspector T. W. Jones has been in charge of the investigation and he has cleverly managed his little game. There seems to be no doubt of the affair, so far as the alleged charges are concerned, and the man, who appears to be in default, will be given an opportunity to clear himself In a word, to give an inkling of the story, it seems to be a case similar, in many of its features, though on a smaller scale, to that which has recently been concluded in Jackson, Tenn.

The name of this local Howard is still a The name of this local Howard is still a mystery. He has signed himself alternately by the names of J. S. Stripling, J. N. Strickland and S. R. Seaton, as safety or convenience has from time to time recommended. Latterly he has adopted the name mended. Latterly he has adopted the name of the Stamp and Print Company, operating his business at Marietta, Ga. For the past few weeks he has had his mail delivered to him as J. N. Strickland, at Nos. 9 and 11 Mitchell street, in this city. Strickland, to adopt one of his signatures, in the absence of his real name, has adopted, for the purpose of extoring money from the public, that popular imposition known as the circular fraud. Intrinsically, of course, there is nothing harmful in a circular, but the manner in which this in-nocent affair has been abused of late has brought it into serious, if not fatal, notoriety. A number of people have received circulars, a few of—them cleverly prepared, but the greater number of them apparent frauds, who will cheerfully subscribe to this impeachment. The circular, as a means of perpetrating fraud, has acquired within the last five years a peculiar and rapid popularity, but no one appears to have used it to better advantage or to have brought it to a higher state of perfection than the man who is known to the inspector as J. N. Strickland. N. Strickland.

Launching the Scheme. To build up the story from the facts, which were gathered in a rather desultory and disconnected manner from the custom house yesterday, Strickland appears to have started out in his careet, like a "village Hampden," at a little place in Georgia called Hickory Level.

At this place he conceived the idea of sending out a lot of circulars. Among the number printed was a small dedger about sending out a lot of circulars. Among the number printed was a small dodger about six inches in length by four in width. Just below the name of the village, at the top of the circular, a space was left for the insertion of the party's name to whom the circular was to be mailed.

The dodger then went on to say in the most innocent and unassuming manner that the undersigned had formed a contract with the publishers to furnish a lot of names for the American Business Men's Guide, a commercial volume which was

His object was to get one name out of every family in the United States, with the nationally, occupation and religion of the individual. He desired the party to whom the circular was mailed to undertake the agency for his particular neighborhood. In order to get a sample copy of the book he would have to mail to the undersigned the sum of $1.12 to cover the actual expense only of publication. After a few lines, in addition to this statement, in which the character of the book was highly recthe character of the book was highly recommended and the idea suggested that possibly a large sum of money could be realized by an energetic man from such an

On the back of the circular, in rough letters, showing that a rude stamp had been applied, was this direction:

"After October 5th address your letters to J. N. Strickland, 2300 Third street, Bir-

Then a few lines below this was a second stamp bearing the advice, "After September 22d address me at Dalton, Ga." In reply to the letters and circulars were thus mailed quite a number of letters were received, and a lot of money found its way into the pockets of Strickland. He Had No Books.

He Had No Books.

The book, of course, was a mere abstraction. There was no such a publication. in all probability, and Strickland had none of them in stock, so far as any information could be obtained. When he obtained an order for the book, which implied an acceptance of the agency, and which was acceptance of the agency, and which was acceptance to the agency, and the book was never forwarded.

After doing business in one place he would soon turn up in another, as he realized that he had used a particular location as long as he could do so with impunity. If negotiations were pending with a certain party he would write that he had moved his business to a certain location or had sold out to such imaginary individuals as S. R. Seaton and J. S. Stripling, all of whom were simply the nominal disguises of himself.

A number of parties with whom the al-guises of himself.

A number of parties with whom the alleged Strickland had business transactions began to feel uneasy when they failed to hear from their money or to receive the mooted publication. In a few cases letters of complaint were addressed to him and to mooted publication. In a few cases letters of complaint were addressed to him and to all of these he replied that he had not received the money.

A number of these would-be agents addressed their communications to the post-office authorities, and in this way the investigation first began to assume definite shape. Letters were written to the various postmasters over the country, who lived in the neighborhoods identified with the operations of Strickland, and the invariable answer to all of these letters was a profound ignorance of the individual.

Running Him Down. The matter was finally placed in the hands of the postoffice inspector. Mr. Jones be-gan to work up the case about six weeks or the postomce inspector. Mr. Jones began to work up the case about six weeks ago. Letters were written to parties all over the country who had been defrauded and affidavits as to the manner of the imposition which was practiced on them secured. Enough evidence to criminate the party was obtained and the next thing was to look out for Strickland. Warrant for Strickland, Stri Strickland, Stripling and Seaton were securstrickland, stripling and seaton were secur-ed, and yesterday morning a party answer-ing to the descriptions of the man alleged to have issued the circular, was caught a few miles south of Atlanta. He had been seen at Douglasville the day before and this is what led '? his capture. H? will reach the city this morning and will be given a trial before Judge Broyles.

Always Giving Satisfaction.

Always Giving Satisfaction.

Brandredth's Pills have always given satisfaction. In fifty years there has been no complaint of them. That is about their life in the United States and millions of persons have used them. There is no doubt that they have established themselves by merit alone. They cure rheumatism, dyspepsia, piles, liver complaint, billousness and any disease arising from an impure state of the blood. One or two at night on an empty stomach, for a week or two, will keep you in good form and tone up the system. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

Angostura Bitters, the celebrated appetizer, of exquisite flavor, is used all over the world. Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons, sole manufacturers. At your druggists.
